THE KISKISPHERE

FOCUS IN ON
KISKI'S SPHERE OF INFLUENCE

THE KISKISPHERE . . . THE ENVIRONMENT THAT SURROUNDS AND MOLDS US, THE INTERACTION BETWEEN KISKI AREA HIGH SCHOOL AND THIS BIG, WIDE, EDUCATIONAL WORLD. EACH PERSON HAS HIS OWN CONTRIBUTIONS AND REACTIONS . . . CRITICIZING THE DRESS CODE, OR FIGHTING TO SCORE TWO MORE POINTS . . . MAKING THE HIGH HONOR ROLL, OR STAYING UP ALL NIGHT TO FINISH THAT TERM PAPER ASSIGNED TWO MONTHS AGO . . . PREVENTING THE BAND FROM GOING TO THE MACY'S PARADE, OR REPORTING THE FOOTBALL SCORES ON CHANNEL 2. EACH PERSON'S CRITICISMS AND REACTIONS VARY IN KIND AND DEGREE, BUT EACH ACCUMULATES INTO THE KISKISPHERE. UNDERSTAND . . . FEEL . . . REMEMBER, THE KISKISPHERE.

Mollie Michaelson (Sherry Matchum), Adele McDougal (Chris Mathews), and Sarah Walker (Joan Ferrara) experience the problems of college freshmen in the Senior Class Play directed by Miss Klingensmith.

Happenings: Transformations Into A World Of Cherished Bliss

It's a happening.

. . . Homecoming.

. . . Take Her, She's Mine.

. . . The Frosted Fantasy.

It's happening here . . . It's happening now.

. . . Foothills Conference Champs

. . . Leo Club Bathtub Drive

. . . Senior Class Elections

A happening . . .

You wait for it.

worry over it.

cry after it.

Your heart beats madly

and you offer a silent prayer

. . . that you are chosen Queen.

. . . that you perform your best.

. . . that you are elected President. . . .

The band salutes Homecoming Queen Joan Ferrara and her escort, Rocco Giunta, with "Sweetheart of Kiski High" after crowning ceremonies.

You plan and work on a dance that seems to be doomed for cancellation.

You get soaking wet pushing a dumb bathtub through the streets.
You lose your cool and shed a tear for your team.

Then it happens.
But the memory lingers . . .

Remember how
. . . proud you felt when you gave the Cerebral Palsy Home $95.00.

. . . you clapped your hands until they were numb and blood-red when we got the Foothills Trophy.

. . . you laughed through two verses of
"O Christmas Tree" when you went caroling.

Remember when
. . . you made a zillion tags for the senior campaigns and broke the horn on your dad's car in the parades.

. . . everyone loved the dance decorations
and talked about Santa's visit for days afterwards.

. . . the sound of applause rang in your ears
and all the complaints of long rehearsals vanished.

These are the Kiski happenings of 1969-1970.
There are happenings going on all the time at Kiski.

Sounds: Kiski Vibrates With What She Hears

Ours is a world of sounds . . .
alarm clocks that wake us.
bells that move us.
clunking radiators that annoy us.

Here at Kiski our sounds govern, relax, even shake us.
The blare of the trumpets,
The beat of the drums,
The pulsating, reverberating tones of the pep band.
At the game . . .
when a touchdown goes over.
the crack of the pads and helmets.
spectator quarterbacking.

the sound of Mrs. DeSantis' monotone reaching . . .
reaching out over the sounds of Steppenwolf in trig.

What would we do without it?
The cafeteria without the clamor of dishes,
without the talking and the laughter.

Morning without announcements.

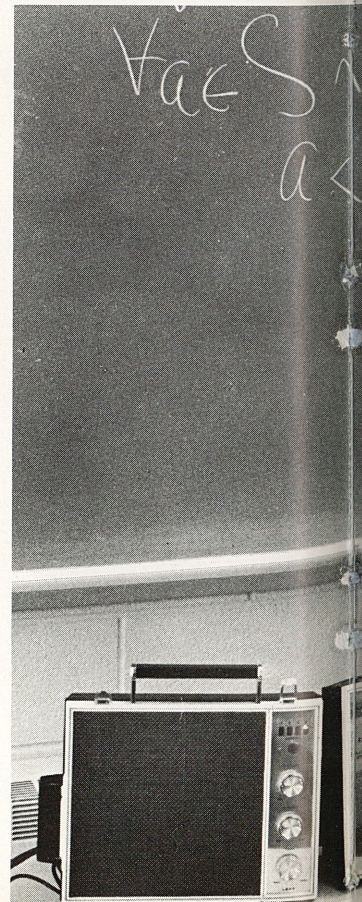

No sounds at all . . . Nothing upon nothingness.

Open your ears . . .
Take in what you like . . .

Moods: Feelings Sensed By One Or Shared By Many

A mood . . . an attitude . . .
Of loneliness, disgust, sorrow.

What do you experience
. . . when everyone around you talks about a party you weren't invited to?

. . . when you've practiced and prayed
but can't seem to win your race?

. . . when you are wounded by a friend?

Moods . . . Feelings . . .

Of ecstasy, acceptance, gladness.

How do you react

. . . when your team squeezes three points
out of that football to win the game?

. . . when the girl you ask to the prom accepts?

. . . when the five hours of study pays off
and you get that "A"?

A mood . . .

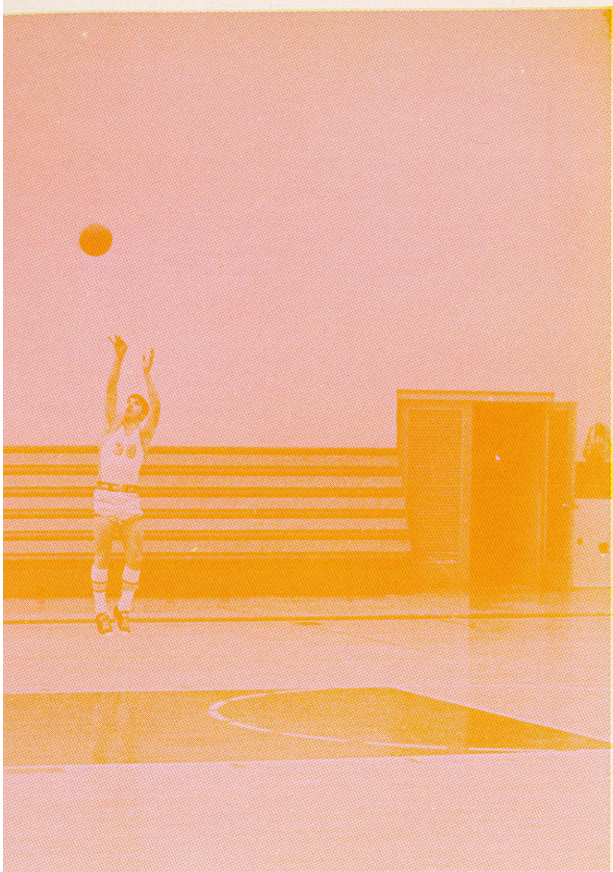

An everyday happening . . .

It goes unnoticed.

But notice it now . . .

Culture: Students Awaken To Appreciation Of Music And The Arts

What is culture to a student?

... The melodic strains of Handel's Messiah.

... Fellow students performing the Senior Class Play.

... A trip to Pittsburgh to see Man of La Mancha.

Is it an awareness of the arts?

Is it sophistication?

Is it finesse —
knowing which fork to use first?

What does it mean to us?

Are we aware of its existence?

Culture at Kiski is the Senior Class Play.

... It is the Messiah.

It's an appreciation of the musical and dramatical accomplishments.

Going to see Carmen,
hearing exchange students
relate the old and new customs of their countries.

It's getting out,
appreciating different people,
recognizing new ideas or rejecting them.

Open your mind . . .

broaden your scope . . .

deepen your perspectives.

WE BELIEVE

Unity: A Fusion Of All Students Creates Harmony At Kiski

Where does unity exist?

Look into

- . . . the halls.
- . . . the classrooms.
- . . . the bleachers.

Listen to

- . . . the beat of the Pep Band.
- . . . the cheers of victory.
- . . . the quiet of tragedy.

What is unity?

It is

- . . . the power of "We Believe"
and the tear-filled eyes at games.
- . . . the sharing of our joys and sorrows with a friend.
- . . . the working together to produce a prize-winning door.

Unity is

- . . . being accepted by others
as one of them.
- . . . sharing an orange in study hall.
- . . . three in a seat
on a careening bus.

During a break in Woodshop class, Barry Crissman and Kenny Waltenbaugh have a friendly match of Indian wrestling while their fellow classmates urge them on.

Common unity — Joseph Montali and Elmo Hartsfield pledge allegiance to the flag.

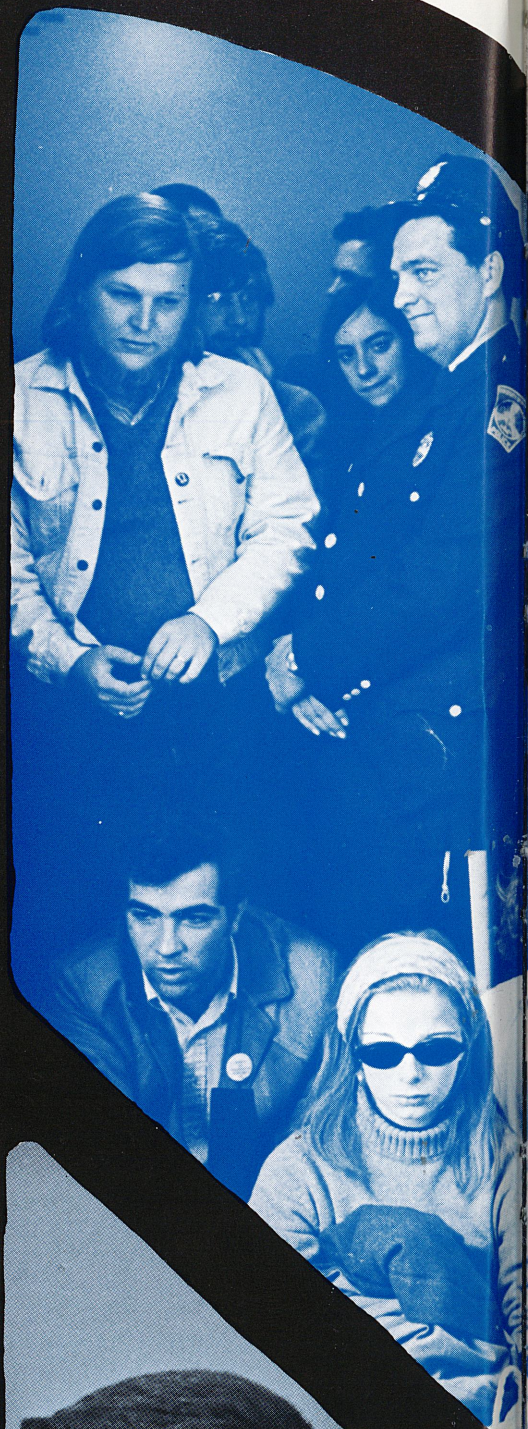

When does unity exist?
 We have only to open our eyes and it is there.
 It is there when we
 . . . pledge allegiance to our flag.
 . . . applaud a performance done by our fellow students.
 . . . listen with respect to another's opinion.
 Why does it exist?
 Unity is necessary —
 . . . to prevent the fear of loneliness.
 . . . to intensify our school spirit.
 . . . to build a better world for our tomorrow.
 Unity is everywhere. All the time.
 Search for it . . .
 Work for it . . .
 Pray for it . . .

Generation Gap: Young Minds Plead To Voice Opinions

What?
Why?
Where?

A gap between people, a space between men.
Margin of misunderstanding between the young and the old.

When the old and the new can't communicate,
only static can result.

It's years of change and difference

. . . when old morals oppose new permissiveness.

. . . when the body shirts and bells replace grey suits.

. . . when people don't take the time
to find out why things are happening.

It's a separation of God and a people who don't have the time to offer a prayer.

It's a conflict of old past and new present —

Neither willing to concede . . .

Both wanting leadership and recognition.

Business: Students Prepare For Future Business World

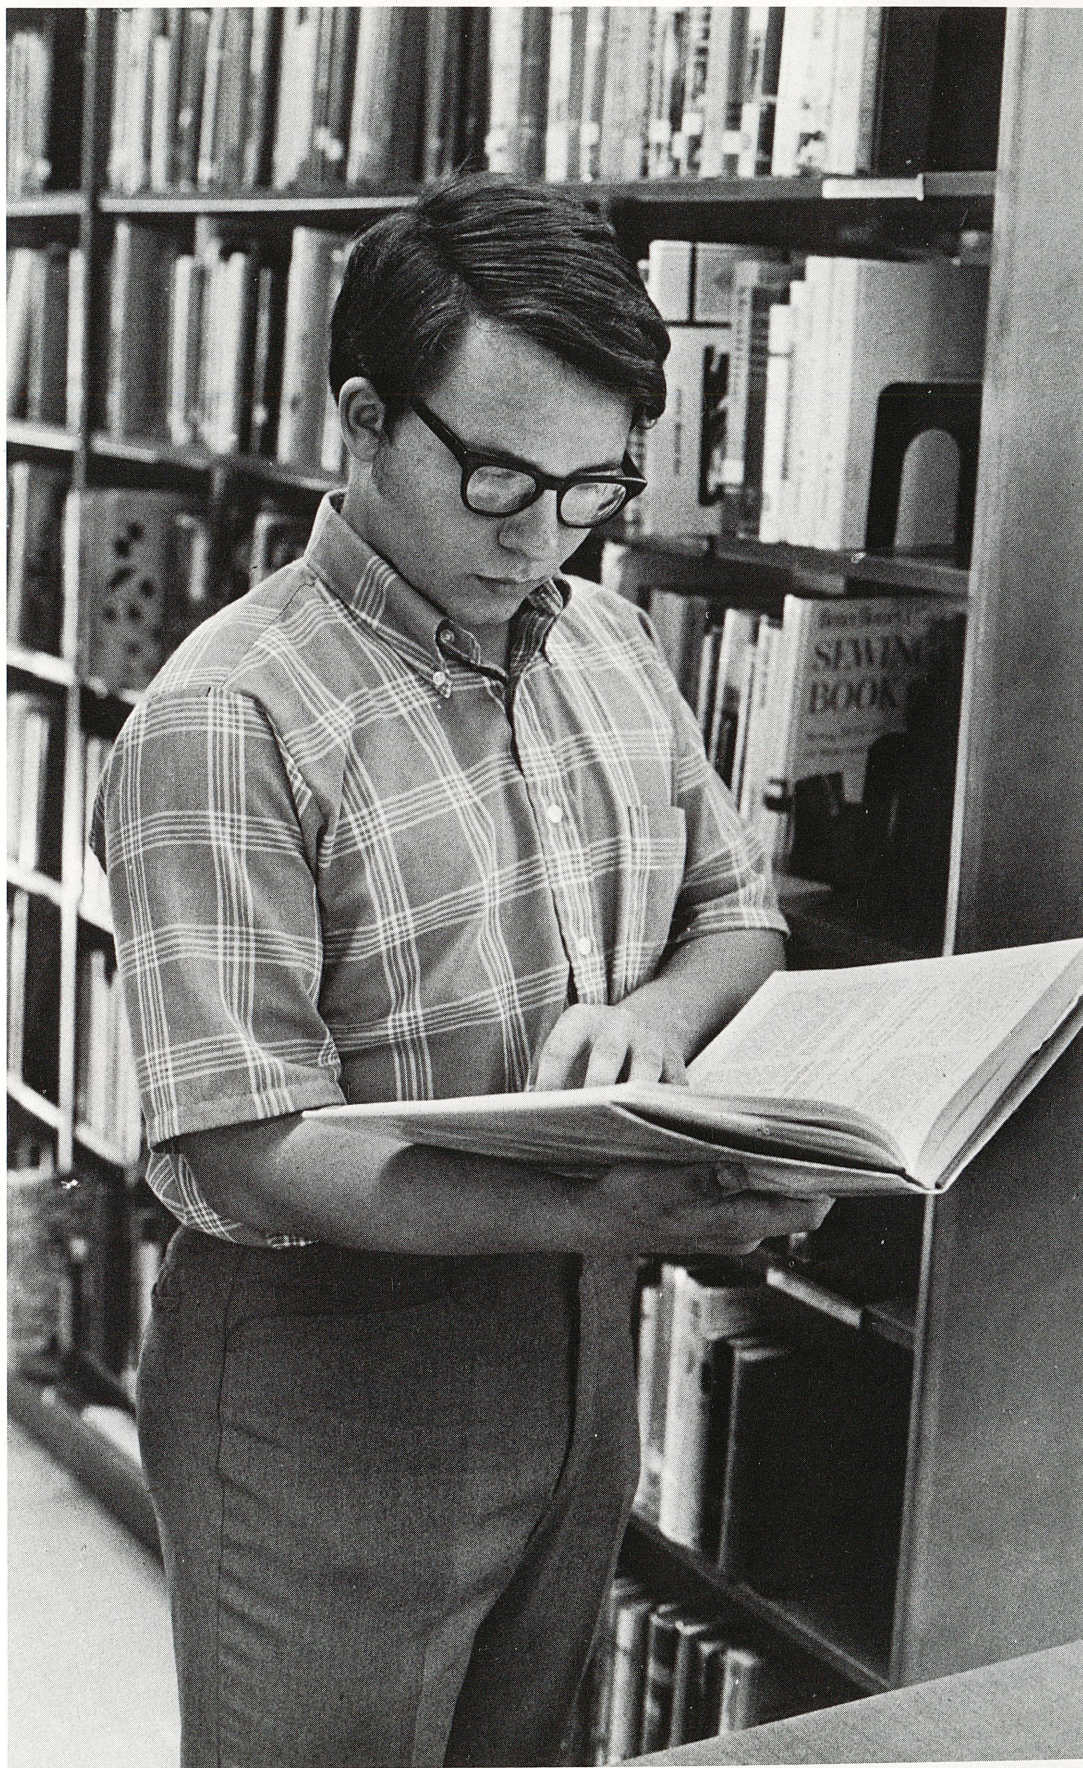

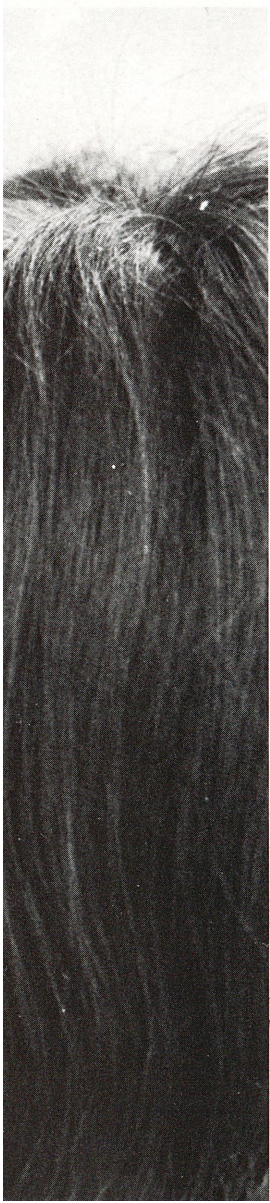

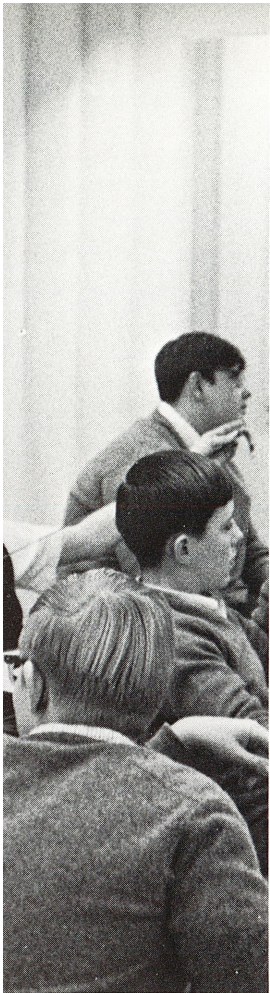

With a quick deceiving glance we check the position for our fingers, paralyzed from constant typing. For just a moment we close our weary eyes, strained from searching through a maze of numbers which hopefully conceals the solution for a bookkeeping problem. Numerous brief forms dance in our minds as we hurriedly take dictations. A visit to the courthouse provides a live performance of Business Law. As student secretaries we grasp the significance of being responsible and trustworthy individuals. All these things constitute the forces that propel Business — an intricate part of our ever-complicating world.

English: Department Initiates New Elective Program

The English Department has come up with a new idea to relieve some of us from the routine of grammar and literature. We sophomores become the guinea pigs under study. Literature of the Wild West, composition, and film study are some of the courses offered. While just the sophomores experience a new change, all of us experience memorizing vocab, critiquing novels, and handing in week-late themes. We have difficulty fathoming the depths of Molière and Shakespeare; but as we enact the plays in class, the characters and situations come to life. Our heads spin from taking notes and analyzing poetry. We wonder if all this is really necessary. But when we come through with a decent average, it makes everything seem worthwhile.

Foreign Languages: Students Transformed Into World Citizens

Parlez-vous Français? Sprechen sie Deutsch? Habla Vd. Español? Dicisne Latinam? Bbl robopnte no-pycckn? Foreign languages are heavy burdens on our schedules. There are translations, verb conjugations, dialogue memorizations, and noun declensions to do every night. We can't miss a day's work. Mastering a language is a difficult process. But, we have fun, too. We experiment with our different cultures. German folk dances, French sing-songs, and Roman banquets help us to better understand the people in various areas of the world.

Mathematics: Modern Math Challenges Students

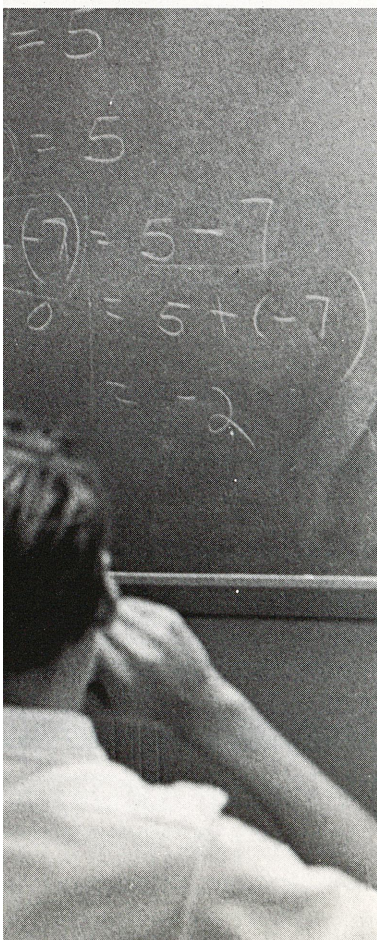

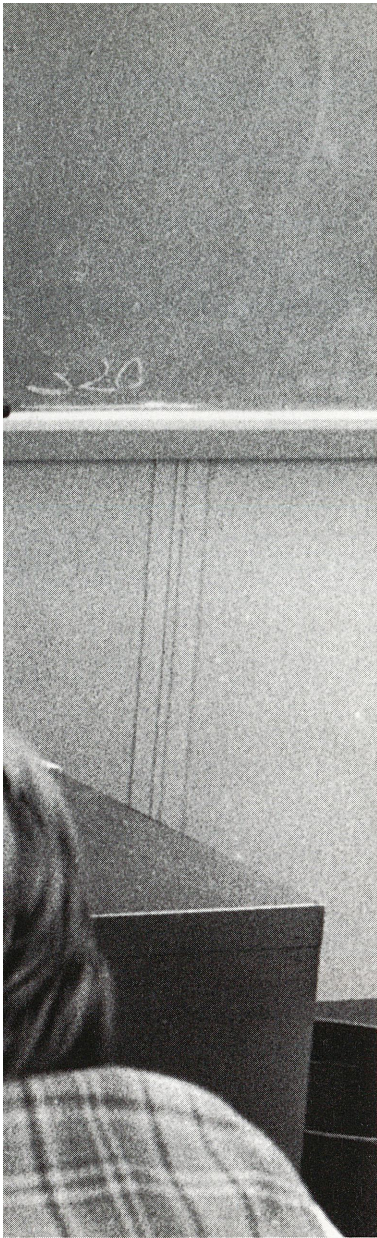

We thought algebra and geometry were hard subjects, but they're nothing like our trig and math analysis courses. Our fingers cramp for scribbling down notes in class. We spend hours at night decoding that strange language:

$$\forall a \in S \wedge \forall b \in S \quad a=b \vee a < b \vee a > b$$

We're told we study mathematics to build useful thought patterns, but sometimes we wonder. Some say it disciplines our minds to think critically and analytically. At this point, though, we just don't believe it. Math is hours of homework, puzzling problems, and mind-bending tests.

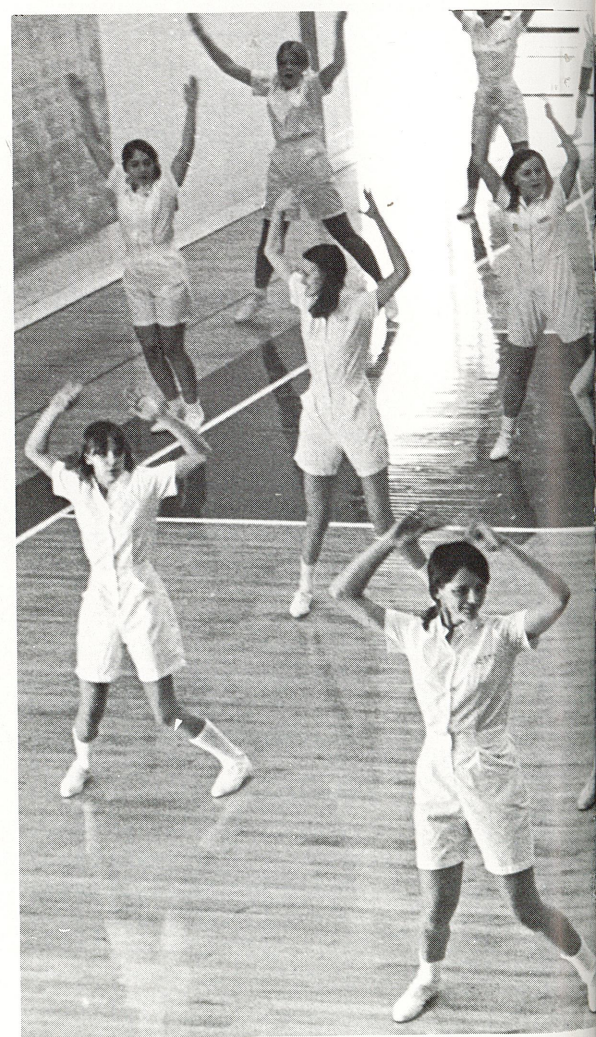

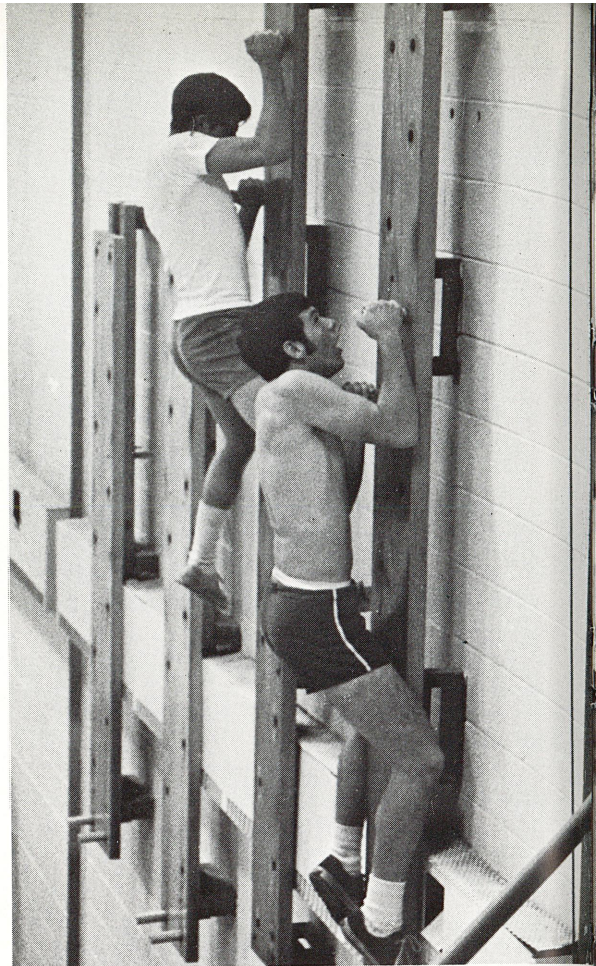

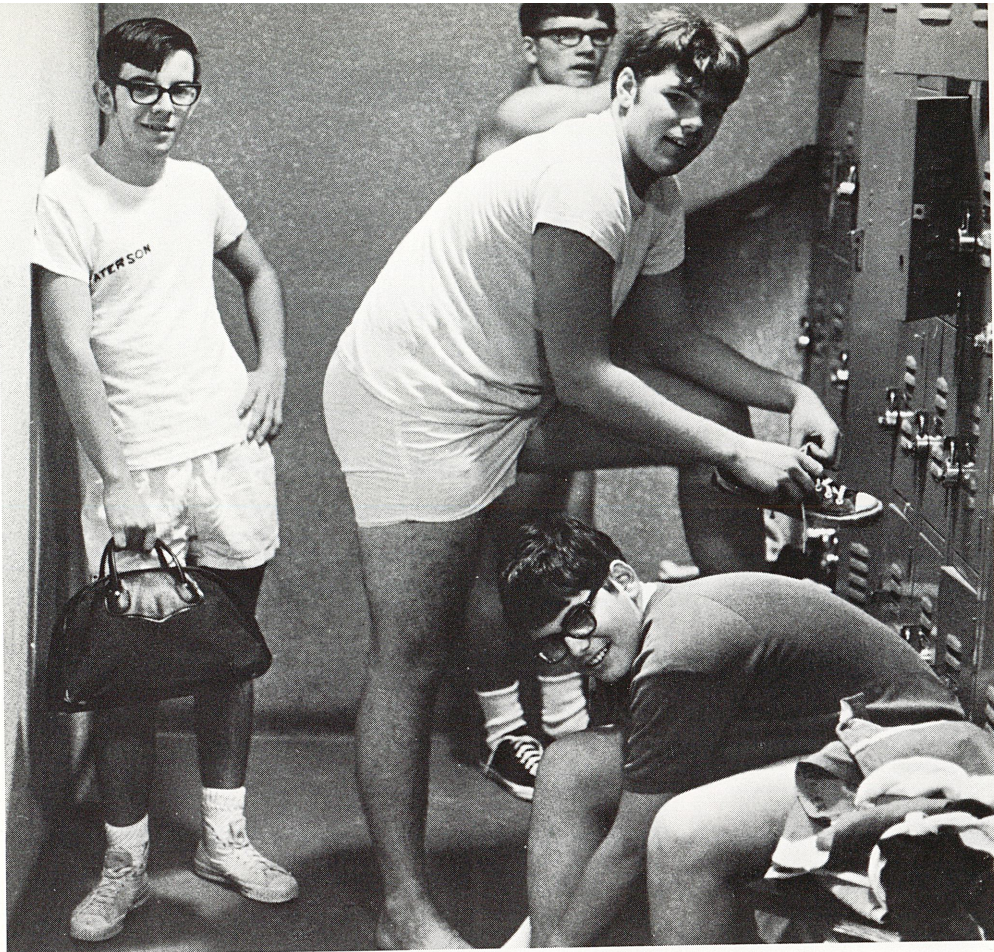

Above: To an algebra II class Mr. Veselicky demonstrates the proper way to write simultaneous equations.

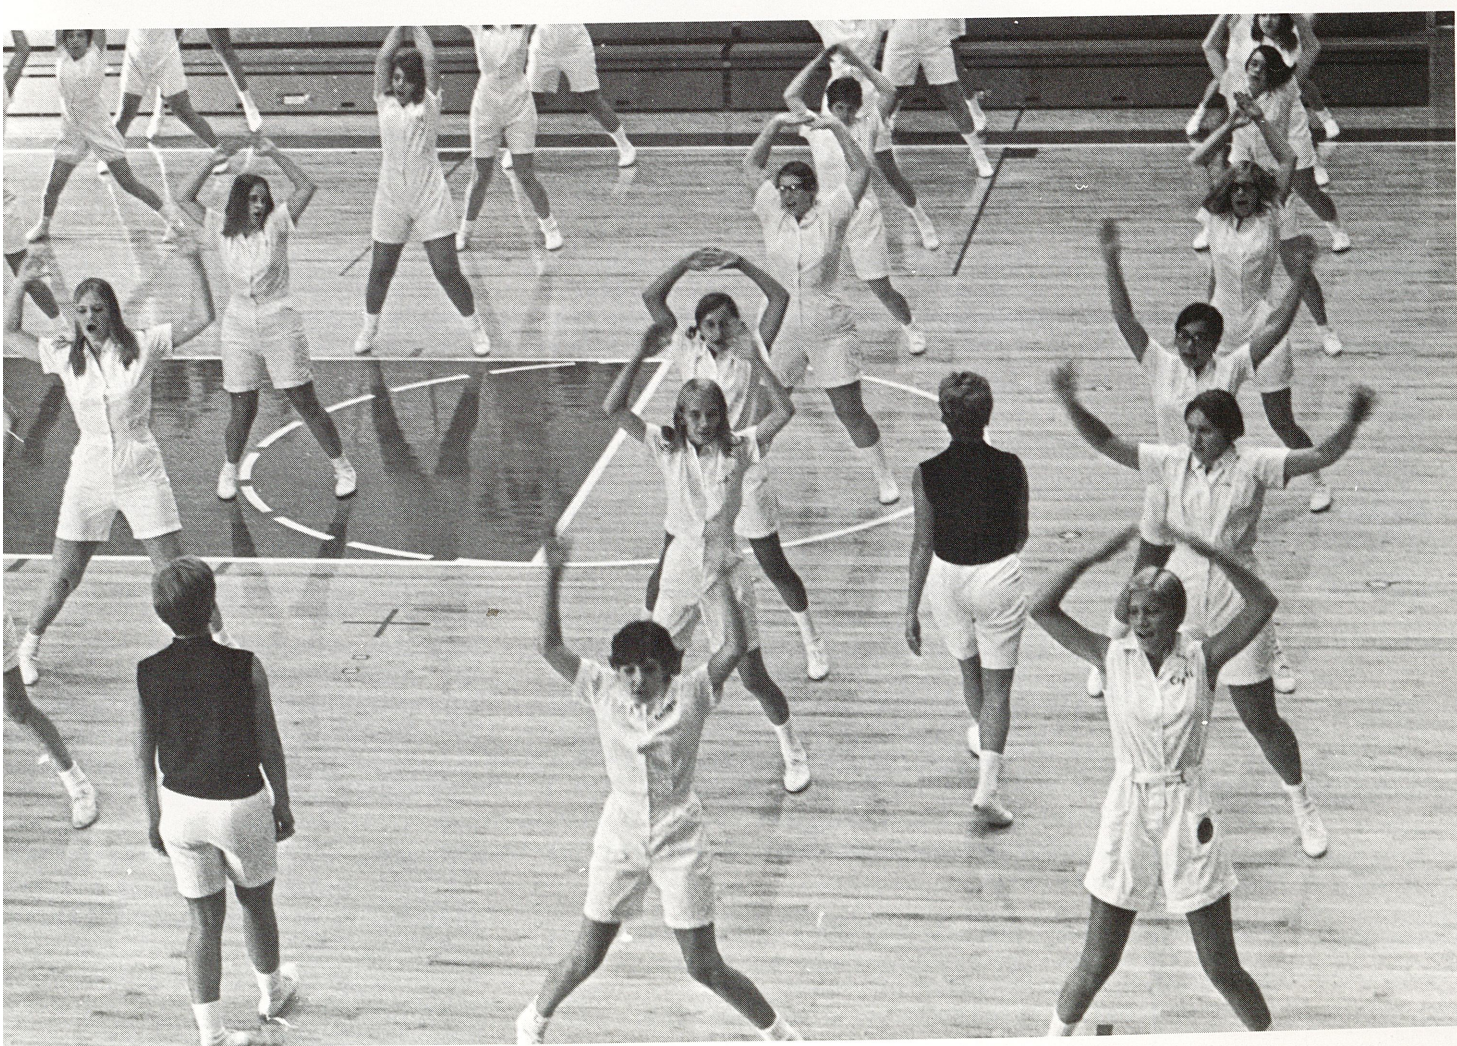

Physical Education: Competition Strengthens Physical Ability

We tear into our gym clothes as we exchange friendly gossip. If previous reports are true, the next twenty-five minutes should prove to be a rough ordeal. With roll-call comes the petty inspection of gym uniforms. Next we are subjected to the tortures of cals . . . seemingly thousands of sit-ups, push-ups, and burpies. After exercises our instructors always have "pleasant" activities in store for us, ranging from running the cross country courses to square-dancing. At the end of class, we drag our half-dead bodies into the showers, hoping to rejuvenate our spirits as well as our limbs. Gym class is over for today. Once again we have survived the eternal battle to keep ourselves physically fit.

Practical Arts: Students Exposed To Future Opportunities

Isolated from the academic world in a building of its own is the Practical Arts Department. In this tiny school we are trained in the domestic line of education. We enter home economics as nervous, "all thumbs" students, struggling over recipes and pattern directions. But at the year's end, we come out as "master chefs" and "vogue seamstresses". In shop and mechanical drawing our potentialities as future engineers and mechanics unfold without losing any fingers! Sculpturing and oil painting envelopes us in a creative atmosphere. From our hidden depths true expression flows when we paint a brilliant sunset or sketch a barren tree. Through these domestic and aesthetic channels, we reveal our true inner selves.

Science: Frogs And Formulas Frustrate Young Scientists

"Where did it go?" Once again we've lost our amoeba. But we don't give up. We adjust the microscope and begin another frustrating search. We can't decide if this is better than dissecting those slippery worms. We tackle a Bunsen burner wondering all the while when it will explode. Visions of stomach pumps run through our minds when we swallow acid from a pipette. $R = R \cdot \frac{V \sin 2\theta}{g}$ discourages a career of physics for us, but we keep on struggling for a passing grade. Science provides a sneak-preview of the complex life awaiting us.

With the help of Mr. Morea, Colleen Dunmire and Denise Bert locate the battle sites of the Spanish-American War.

Social Studies: World Affairs Brought To Students

Each year the Social Studies Department offers us a new and exciting guided tour. Traveling through the tunnel of time we meet the frolicking generation of the Roaring 20's and stand in a bread line during the Depression. Via a movie projector we tour an ancient Aztec temple, and the bullet of a Red Guard's gun brings us face-to-face with the reality of Communism. Discussion becomes our means of transportation into an individual's soul as we strive to untwine our patterns of behavior. Each year on our trek we gain just one tiny bit of insight into our complex world.

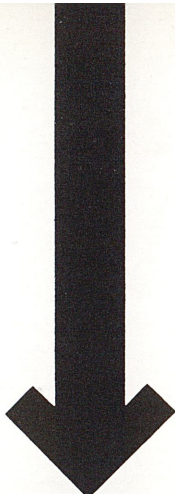

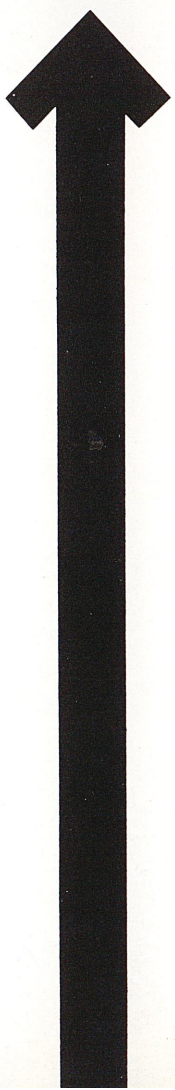

Left: Through panel discussions, Mr. Curran's students find an outlet to voice their opinions on pressing world matters. Below: With the aid of an overhead projector, Mr. Creigh compares economic statistics of the Soviet Union and the United States.

Afro-American Club Builds Racial Understanding

It's our chance to do our thing. With Mr. Miller in command, we're set out to make this first year worthwhile for everyone. Our meetings evolve around the origin of the black race, our cultural background, and today's racial problems. Sometimes tempers flare, and any kind of order is forgotten. But Mr. Miller comes through and calms us down. We come away from our meetings sometimes mad, sometimes happy, and sometimes enlightened. But we all agree — it's definitely a step towards the understanding of all races.

Speed is our goal as we form the first typing club at Kiski. We learn from area business leaders the advantages of perfected skills in typing. Our meetings are dedicated to increasing our speed and decreasing our mistakes. We extend our knowledge of the methods for typing various office forms. A small trophy for outstanding achievement seems huge in the eyes of an amateur secretary. We work diligently to land a place in the business world.

Tri-Hi-Y Promotes Good Will

Even before school started this year our Tri-Hi-Y Officers were busy. An Officers' Training Conference was again held at Grove City College. Our officers "lived" Grove City for four days. Not only did they prepare to lead this year's clubs, but they also experienced many "neat" happenings. Who would have ever guessed that our Tri-Hi-Y officers would be under psychological observation during their leadership seminars! This year we finally got our membership down to a workable size — at least the seniors and juniors did! We held a new and different kind of Thanksgiving assembly. Our girls, singing folk songs on stage in their colorful blouses were quite a picture. But, Dr. Lee, a Chinese minister from Vandergrift, really stole the scene. We're proud to say he was the most interesting guest speaker Kiski has ever heard. We did lots of other things, too. Worthwhile service projects were our main aim this year. We knitted patches and sewed them together to make lap robes. We were almost as thrilled in giving them as the ladies in the rest home were in receiving them. They were so pleased, and so were we. But then in service we always are! We're just like sisters.

Kiskizette Headlines Kiski Students' Interest

With fresh new ideas from the newspaper Workshop at Ohio University, our editors are determined to make this year's Kiskizette better than ever. More photography, more interviews, and more issues are our chief aims. It's a little easier now to get out more issues. By printing our copies in Vandergrift, what used to take a week to publish now only takes a day! Fitting copy and headlines still creates problems, but most of our headaches come from writing stories and cutlines just right. The business staff works along side us. Their tasks of soliciting ads and subscriptions keep us out of debt. Efforts by everyone combine to produce the Kiskizette.

Creative Writers Publish Student Literature

Our cause for existence is to produce the "Odes and Ends". By offering a cash prize, we hope to stimulate creative writing from the students. We sort, read, criticize, and re-read stacks of literary efforts. A small band of members devote long evening hours to typing and printing our magazine. The result is a collection of meaningful writing from the pens of our fellow students.

Quill And Scroll Honors Earnest Efforts In Journalism

A feeling of pride is what we experience when we become members of the Quill and Scroll. We spend long hours searching for the right words to stress the point of our editorials. We are always where it's happening, armed with pen and pad to write up flash bulletins. Belonging to the Quill and Scroll fills us with a new responsibility. We put more effort and interest into our work as we lead our fellow journalists in producing a worthwhile newspaper for our school.

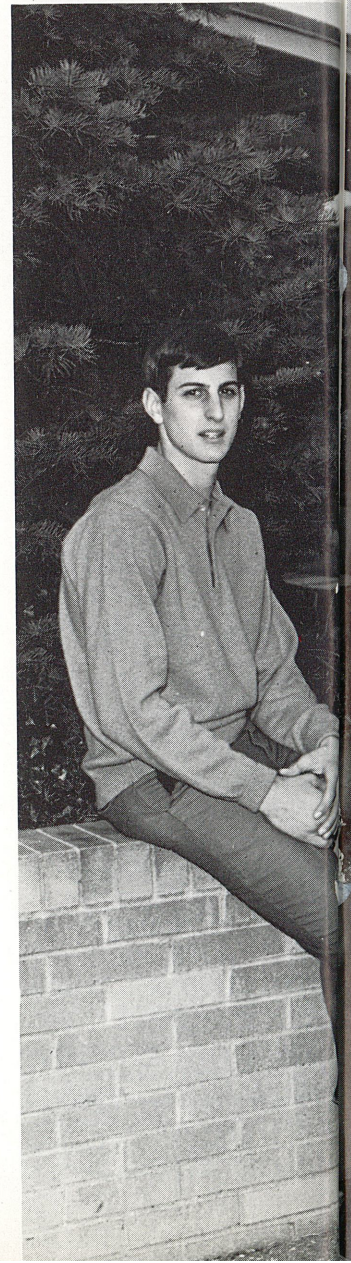

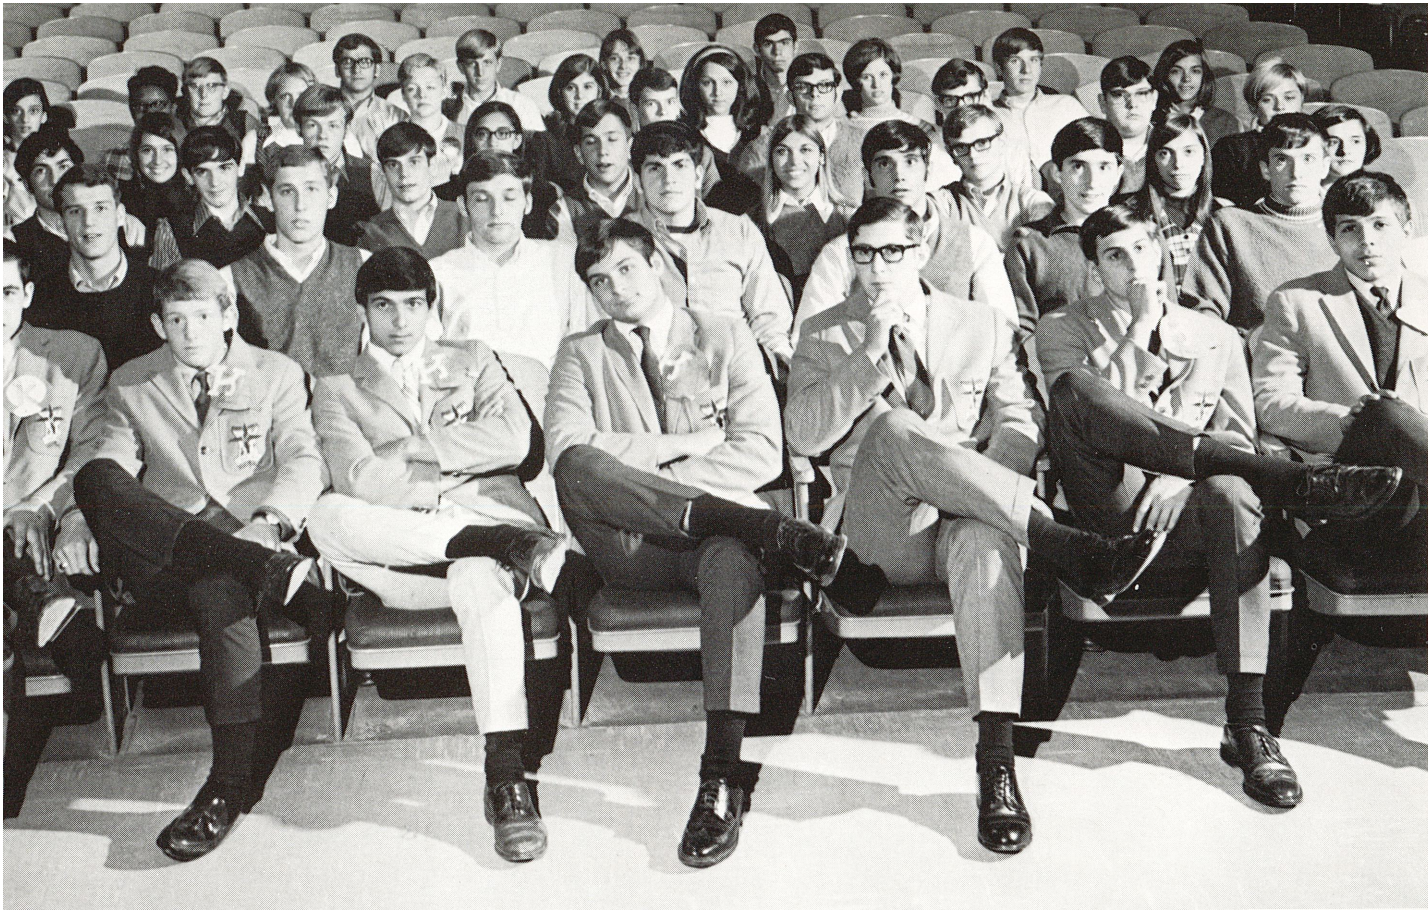

Student Council Helps Finance Broadway Musical

It's Thursday and all the members have jammed into 312, some sitting, some standing. Mr. Miller comes in and half a dozen chairs are offered him at once. He chooses to stand, however, taking notes and sometimes offering a suggestion. Okaying dances and bake sales is a minor part. Our big project was the donation to this year's Broadway musical, West Side Story. We even involve ourselves with a little international diplomacy. Through the World Friendship Society we sponsor correspondence between Kiski students and Korean students to promote better relations among people. Throughout the meeting motions are sluggishly brought up and everyone seems hesitant to offer any suggestions. When the bell rings, instantly hands are waving to adjourn the meeting. The second is yelled out by someone half-way down the hall and it's all forgotten 'till another day.

Denny Merlo, a member of the Student Council, revises the roadside sign to present Kiski's Christmas greeting.

N.H.S. Inducts 52 Members In Candlelight Ceremony

National Honor Society —
how we wish everyone could experience the thrill
we did when the announcement came.
Unfortunately, it doesn't work that way,
so we have to take the criticisms from fellow students —
and they do hand them out.

Who can ever forget Candlelight Induction?

By the time the whole ordeal was over, we were actually inducted three times —
once for our parents and twice in the assembly programs.

That's a heck of a lot of hot wax dripped on our fingers.
The "Frosted Fantasy" meant begging and pleading and crying for more couples until we barely met our quota.

The dance was a success just like our latest charge —
the bookstore.

We sacrificed our activity periods in order to offer Kiski the hottest bestsellers on the market.

"Service" — that's the big word in N.H.S.

Sure we have the qualifications —
scholarship,
service,
leadership,
and character —

but our aim is to use them.

Medical World Surveyed through Local Hospital

Doctors, nurses,
therapists pharmacists, technicians . . .

The opportunities of the health world cause our heads to spin. Our club gives us some insight into this ever-growing world.

Mrs. Martinisko always has films and plenty of speakers to tell us about careers that await us. Each year we take a field trip to see for ourselves what can be ours.

We learn to work to help others by collecting stamps, nylons, religious cards
and rummage for overseas missions.
We always make sure we attend meetings and have our goods for our bake sales so we can accumulate those precious points for a scholarship.

The world of anesthetics and starched white uniforms beckons us.

Future Homemakers Turn Interior Decorators

Broken needles, punctured fingers, and new drapes display the results of this year's club activities. Working diligently with the expert help of Mrs. Wilson and Miss Silvestri, we re-decorated the Home Ec. living room.

Our bake sales, to help with expenses, are always the best because we have so much practice.

Whenever we were at a loss for something to do we had a party.

We also learned the basics for managing efficient households. After all, we're the future wives and family-raisers of America.

FBLA Participates In Area Regionals

Prerequisite, mortgage, fourth . . .
Every meeting there is a new list of spelling words to learn for our monthly contests.
Sometimes they're easy, sometimes they're difficult, but they're always tricky.
Under the new leadership of Miss Martin,
our activities started a little shakily;
but by mid-term we were in full swing.
We formed a variety of committees
so we could perform worthwhile projects.
To add to the holiday spirit, we sold our annual Christmas decorations. One of our girls was elected vice-president of the Fall Regional at Churchill.
We are the present business students, but we are the future business leaders of America.

Miss Martin, Trae Boucher, Kathy Walker, Judy Kline, and Valerie Wilson admire the trees planted this year by the FBLA.

French Club Provides Insight Into French Culture

The French dialect
is the subject of our meetings.
A touch of Mrs. Baun's French humor sets us all laughing
as we make studying the French language fun
at our meetings.
Successful bake sales
aided us
in raising money
toward the purchase of a French flag,
our symbol of progress.
Through the French Club,
we establish a sound base for understanding the language and customs.

Taco Sale Highlights Spanish Club Activities

With the thought of touring Mexico in mind, we dedicated this year's activities to raising money. Everyone took part. Cries of "Anybody want to buy a Taco Ticket" rang through the halls. There was some time out for a fiesta or two, just for a taste of Spanish Culture.

We shared the experiences of our exchange students and again learned more of the Spanish way of life. Spanish came alive through our club and we became a part of it.

Library Club Renders Assistance To Kiski Students

We have a lot of fun working in the library. Our study halls there are never boring. Trying to help students find material for their classroom reports and discussions, we run into a few problems. It seems like we'll never stop losing so many magazines in our periodical files.

It takes so long to look through all those stacks and stacks of journals, only to find fifteen minutes later that that one, and only that one is missing.

But we don't give up; we go to all possible sources to find the students' needs.

It's all part of our job here at Kiski.

Stage Crew And A.V. Offer Backstage Aid

We suffer all kinds of hardships for our club. When someone can't get a film projector working, who runs to fix it?

We do!

When overhead projectors, closed-circuit televisions, and record players have to be delivered, who runs through jam-packed halls to get the equipment to the rooms on time?

We do!

When stage sets have to be built, who gets the calloused hands?

We do!

Constructing scenery for plays entails a lot of tedious work.

We have to measure, remeasure, saw, and sometimes remeasure to get our sets just right.

How could we ever forget hammering our thumbs, spilling the paint, and the fun we had messing up the shop.

Chemistry Club Probes Scientific Depths

We're up to our necks
in chemicals and surrounded by hoses, burners,
broken glass, and flasks.
Our interest in chemistry prompts us to further experimentation and research.
Often times we cannot find the answers,
but we keep trying.
Discussions about scientific achievements and field trips occupy our spare time, but we hunger for more.
Maybe some of us will be famous someday?

Lunar Age Intrigues Future Astronomers

Our business is stars and the moon.

This is our year!

Man has now explored the lunar surface in person.

What a new and exciting era we have opening before our eyes! At our meetings we discuss and analyze the lunar landings:

What is their purpose?

What is their scientific value?

What part can we play in the new era?

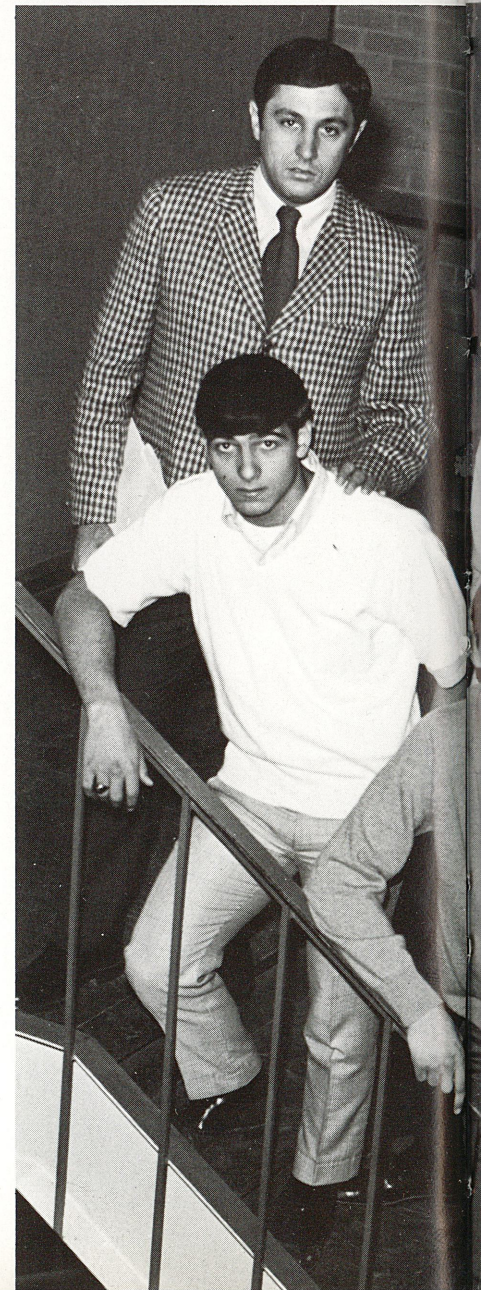

Now, we must be content with television coverage and our own telescopic observation. But tomorrow, we — at least some of us, one of us — might be a lunar explorer. It's this ambition and this positive thinking that makes us enjoy our club so much.

Key Club Beats Varsity Club In Exhibition Game

Furthering the work of the Kiwanis International, we attend special meetings the Kiwanis hold. We Junior members serve our school by acting as traffic cops at Commencement and Baccalaureate. Singing Christmas carols, accompanied by the majorettes and cheerleaders, and challenging the varsity club to a basketball game, we have a chance to enjoy ourselves. Preparing ourselves for future Kiwanis leaders, we experience and investigate the hardships of life.

Political Science Club Develops Students' Concern For World Affairs

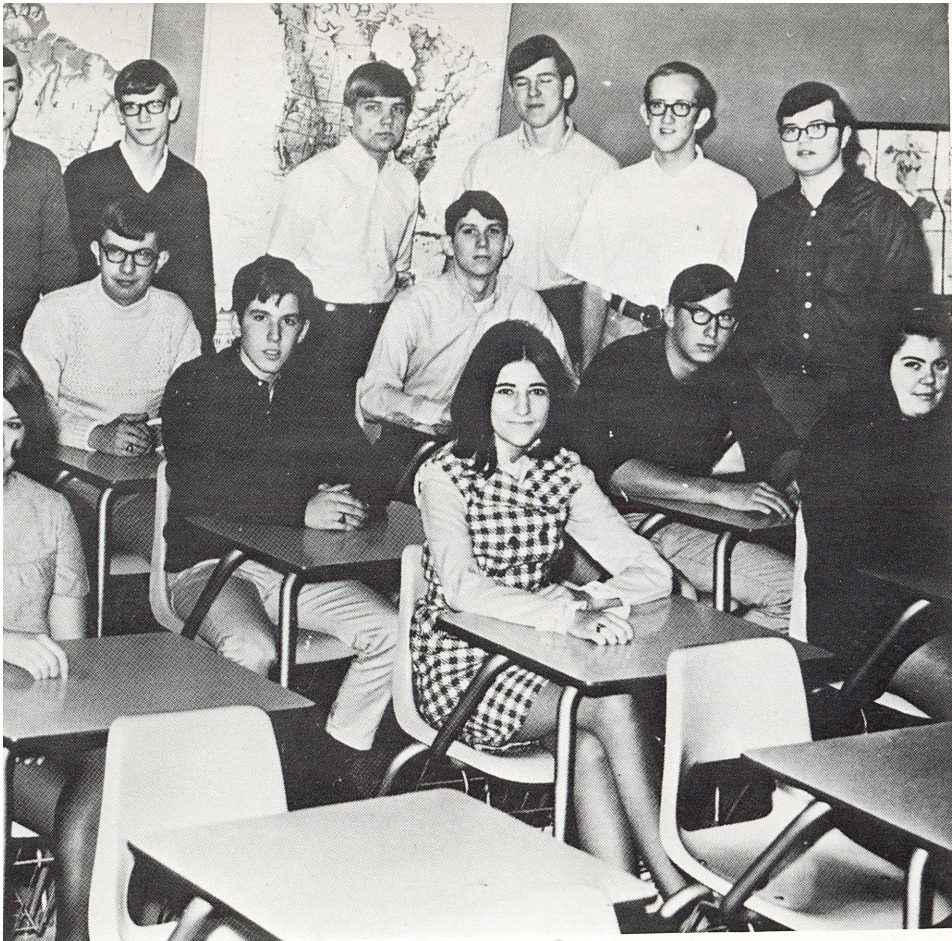

Government. The backbone of all nations. What makes it tick? What is its effect on world affairs? Together we probe to find the answers. We experience government by re-organizing our club and writing a new constitution. A little bit of liberalism creeps in by admitting politically-conscious sophomores. Panel discussions provide means for us to release our own opinions on today's pressing matters. Guest speakers widen our scope of government knowledge and field trips offer first-hand views of law at work. With the willing help of Mrs. Crossan and Mr. Curran, we become better acquainted with the science of politics.

Fun-Filled Meetings Typify Geography Club

Our official purpose is to extend our classroom knowledge of geography. But somehow, we always manage to get off the subject. We elect our officers democratically and attend our meetings faithfully. Each meeting is spiced with a bit of Mr. Roberto's lively wit. As a club we don't get much done, but the thing is we have fun doing it.

Math Club Unearths Mystery Of Numbers

An informal club.
That's what we want
our club to be.
Solving non-classroom problems is what we do.
Stretching our minds to their fullest extent,
we begin to understand the intriguing mysteries of the Math world.
We learn the different aspects of Math in a certain way —
in our way.

FTA Introduces Teachers' Aid Program

We think we've found our purpose in life — so we join F.T.A. We plan excursions to I.U.P. Wishing to emulate our instructors, we initiate a teacher-aid program. Who would ever believe the hours spent in correcting 150 tests — each with 70 multiple choice answers! Or is it possible to envision the tremendous amount of time spend preparing to teach our brothers and sisters still in elementary school? Yet, for many of us, the highlight of our year came when we “got out” of school for one full day just to act as an elementary teacher's aid. Those little kids really wanted our help — and we really wanted to help them. Yes, teaching is our purpose in life.

Kiski Players Present Children's Performances

This year our club did its thing.
No one got in unless he prepared a project which suited both Miss Wick and Mr. Sal.

Wow! What an initiation that was!

Since the only way to get ahead is to try something new, we did! We produced Winnie the Pooh and The Red Shoes.

The little kids thought we were great!

Their giggles over our silly jokes were all the appreciation we needed. We knew we would have faithful fans for years to come.

And so the year went.

West Side Story was a major undertaking, and we hated the thoughts of staying for three-hour rehearsals when tomorrow we were having three major tests. But as they say in the theater,

"The show must go on."

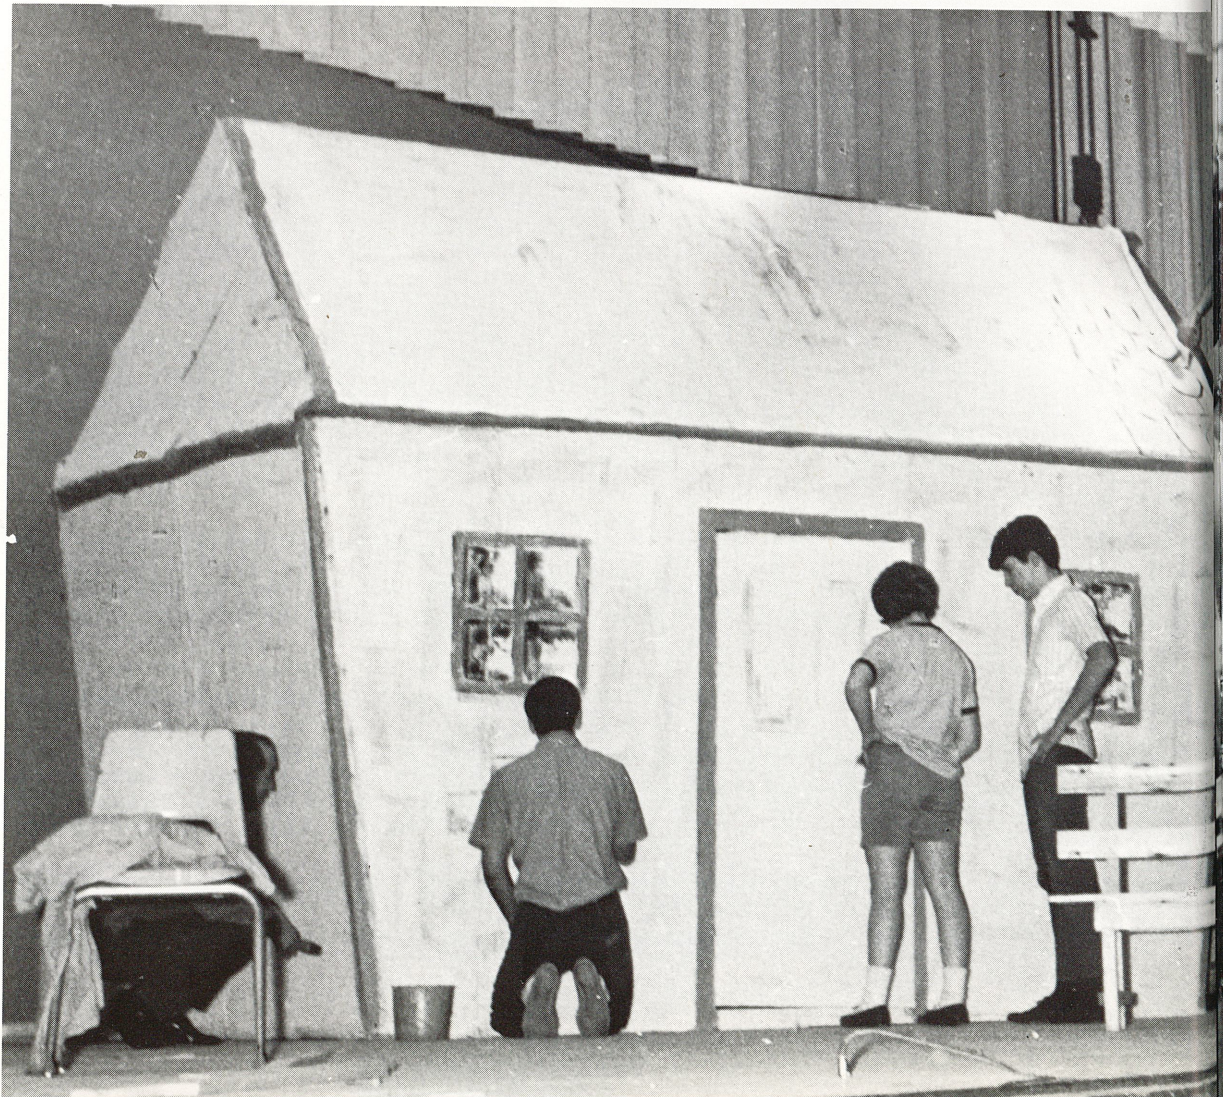

Finally, May 7 arrived.

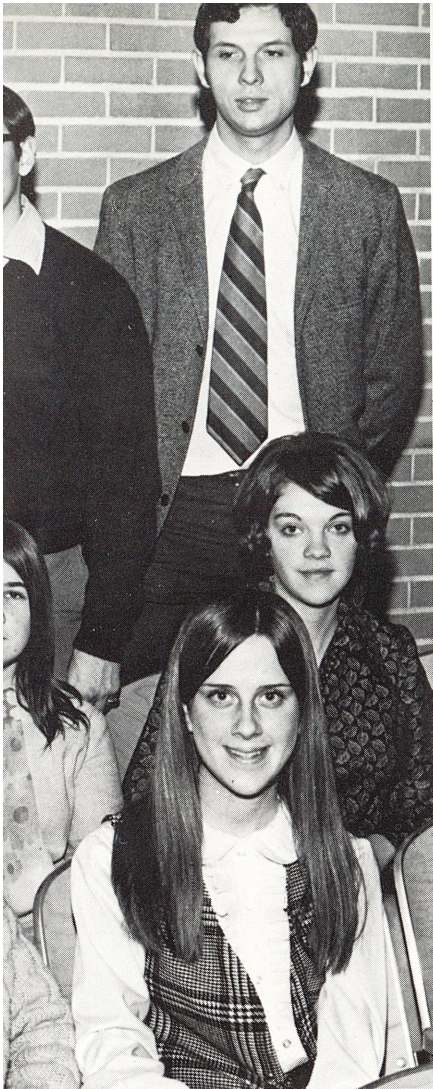

The sweat, the anger, and the fear were gone.

It was opening night!

Kiski Chorus Presents "The Messiah"

The familiar strains of our warm-up fill the room — it must sound strange to any outsiders. Our director, "Baby John", reminds the sopranos of a sour note and warns the tenors that there's a minor 6th coming up in the next line. We practice diligently for Handel's "Messiah" and perform it before a sell-out crowd. Standing ovations send chills through us and the senior girls cry a little. We travel to the junior highs and to the Carnegie Festival for concerts. We represent our school with pride and humility.

Chorus members perfect "Hallelujah Chorus" before their December 11 performance.

Choral Groups Swing The New Sound

With superior tone quality and better-than-average reading ability, the choral groups here at Kiski conquer arrangements like pros. Whether it's putting on a show for the Kiwanis dinner or an assembly for the students, members of the Jazz and Mixed Ensembles really "sock" it to their audiences. Sometimes they go traditional, sometimes modern — Mr. McClelland even writes "his own".

Besides singing well, they crave attention. Usually they don't have any trouble getting it because wherever they travel, they steal the show.

Symphonic Band Practices For Carnegie

We're on top now.
Under the new leadership of our capable band director, Mr. Costanza,
we got off to a swinging start.
After three years of an over-populated membership, we finally cut our band
down to size.
Mr. C. must think we're real virtuosos —
he picked some very difficult selections for us to play. Our "Mission: Impossible" was The 1812 Overture and Procession of the Nobles. For the past few years we've taken a back seat at the Carnegie Awards Festival. But this year
we're going to capture that first-place trophy if we have to stay every night
after school to do it.
Determination — that's our attitude.
After long rehearsals our lips bleed from physical exhaustion. We spend our allowances replacing chipped reeds
and buying valve oil.
Band takes a lot of work and time —
a lot more than most kids in this school are willing to give.

The trombone section of the Concert Band practices their medley of carols for the Christmas assembly.

Dance Band Adds The Beat To Kiski Music

As far as music is concerned, we're the life of the school. We represent the Now Generation! Our music provides a channel to reveal our true sensations. We've got soul —
and we can move with the best.
We'll share our sound with anyone who can feel the beat.
That's what jazz is all about.
Performing for a receptive audience is a great experience. We've made it to the top — not every band is chosen to compete in the Mid-East convention. This year we even hosted a stage band concert of the valley high school bands.
Developing our lips to achieve that "Big Band" sound hasn't been easy.
Our activity periods are sacrificed to concentrated rehearsal. We even spend our study halls in the band room briefing new arrangements.
The part we like best, though — our own interpretation to create the sound WE like.

Marching Band Captures State Championship

Number One band!!!

A title to be proud of.

And we earn it! We spend endless hours practicing. During summer camp we rust our instruments with our sweat and we can feel the soles of our shoes burning. Sometimes it is so cold we wear two sweaters under those uniforms and our fingers are so numb we can barely move them.

But it is worth it all.

By the end of 1969 we had won 35 competitions!

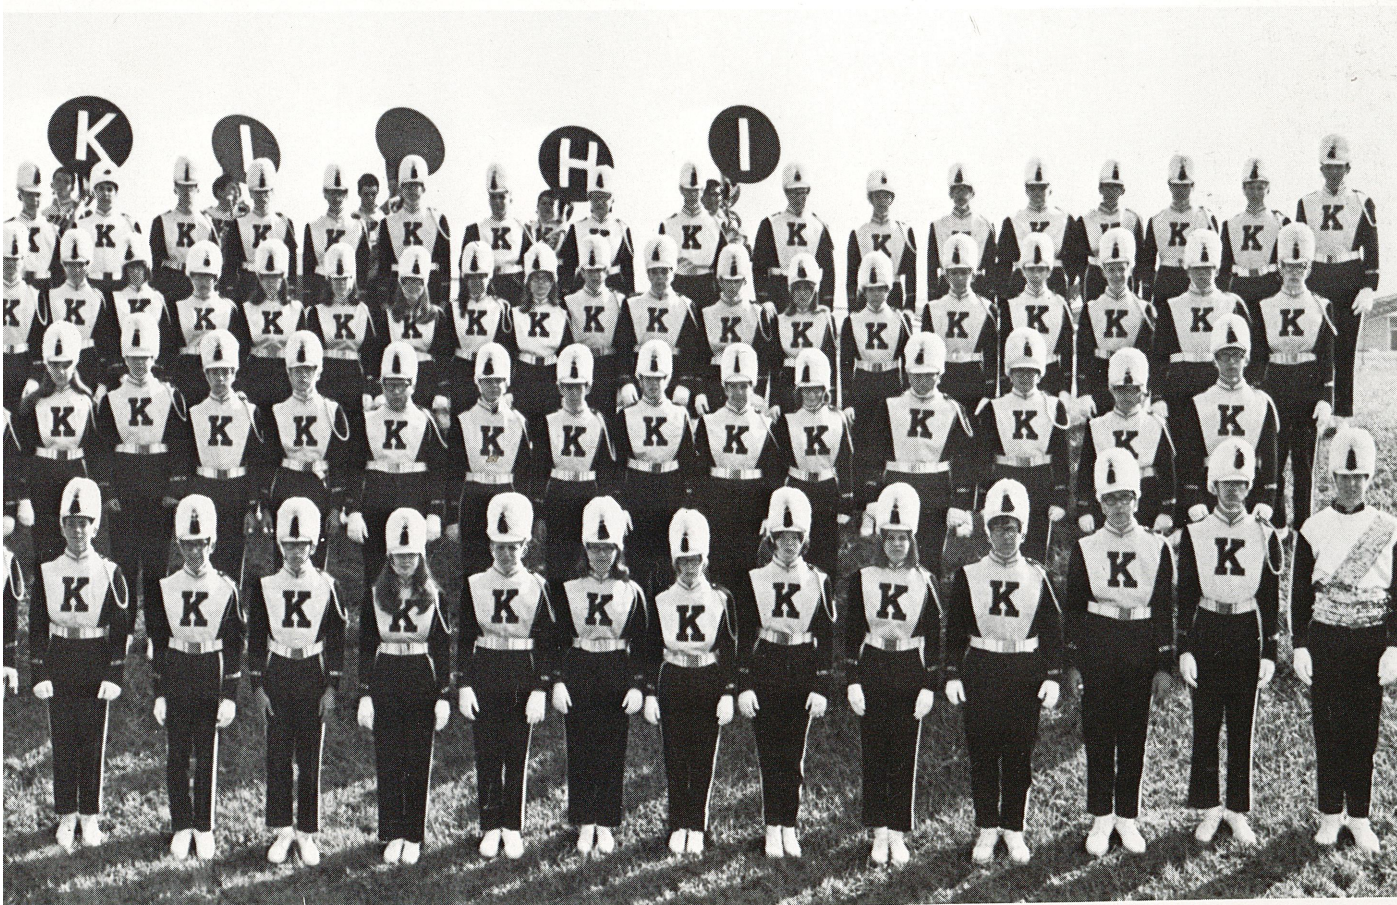

Disappointment ran high when we missed two important Thanksgiving parades.

We force ourselves to wait patiently when the majorettes and the colorguard perfect their private routines.

Being a member of the marching band requires perseverance, patience, and pride.

We have it all.

We are Number One.

Contagious Enthusiasm Inflames Crowd's Spirit

Being a Kiski Area cheerleader means more to us than just screaming at a game.

It means staying after school until 6:00 pm practicing cheer after cheer. It means staying up late at nights making posters, typing letters to the teams, and painting miles and miles of signs.

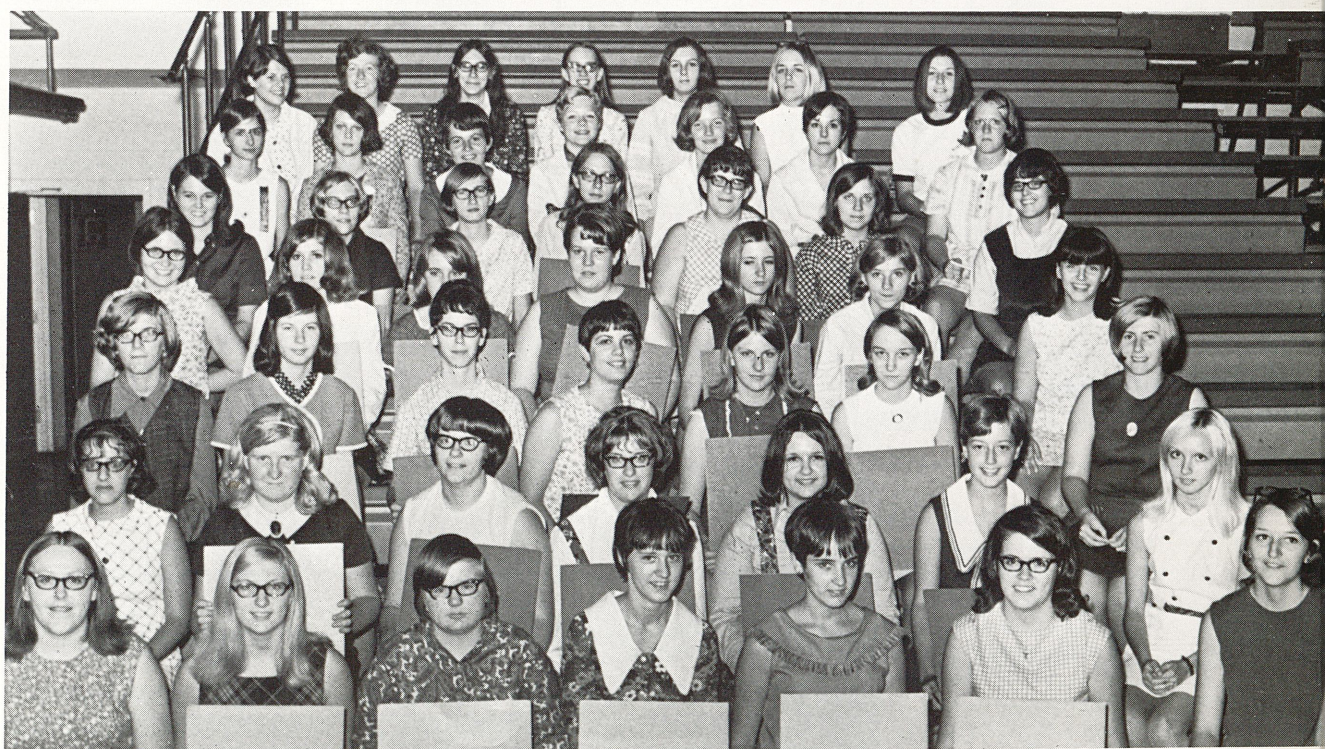

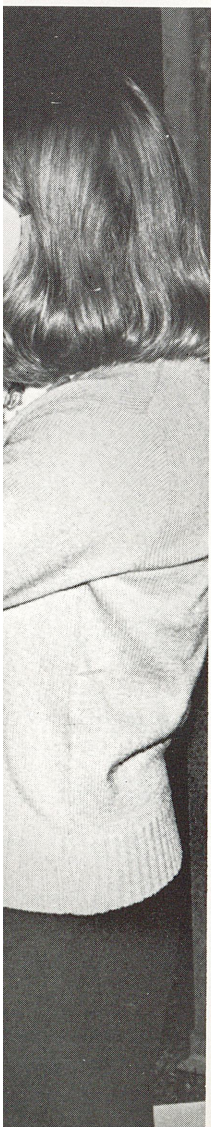

It means arousing the greatest school spirit ever at pep assemblies and games. Amplified by a loyal pep club, our enthusiasm explodes before the crowds. We Believe — we're proud to be from Kiski — and we put forth the best for the Great Big K.

All-Sports Banquet Highlights Athletes' Colorful Year

Our goal is to buy a Varsity jacket for everyone earning a varsity letter — girl or boy.

Imagine, Kiski actually has girls in her Varsity club — at least for this year we do!

In May we anxiously count the days;
the all-sports banquet is close at hand.

There, each athlete receives a little glory
and gets to be in the spotlight for a while.

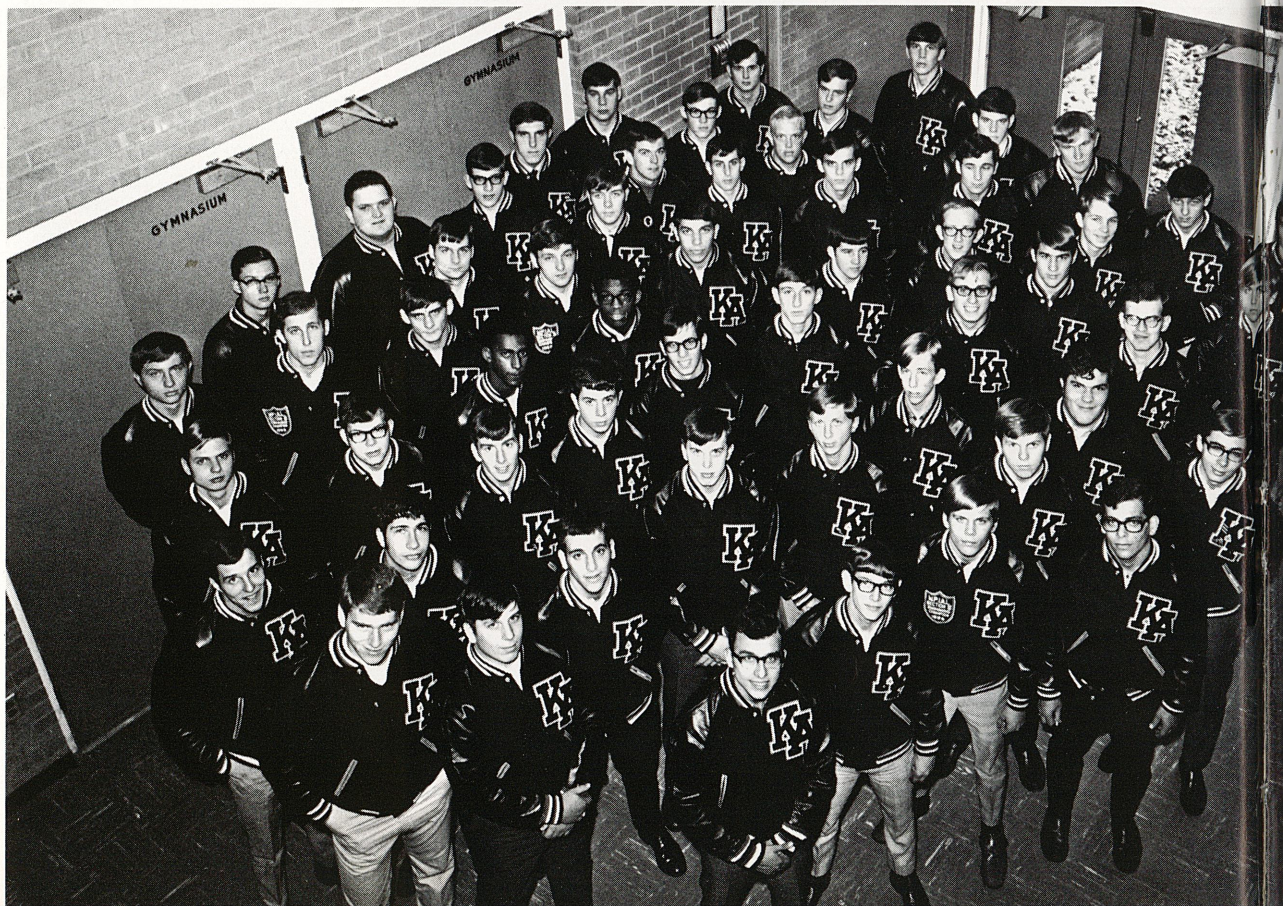

Everyone tries to guess who is going to get the MVP award in each sport.

The food is good —
from the slurping noises and clean plates
you know it has to be.

After dinner we gang into the auditorium
for the program part. Some sleep;
others restlessly await their awards.

Our speakers are usually alumnae like Joe McCain or Danny Fassio — heroes in our eyes.

They're the greatest — and maybe someday, with a little bit of luck, we will be the honored alumnae of the Big K.

Campus Records History Of 1969-70 School Year

Conference Room C is the home of the yearbook staff. Within this tiny room is the heartbeat of the Campus. Here staff members eat, drink, and sleep yearbook. Any outsider stepping into this beehive of activity would feel lost listening to our conversations about dummy sheets, 3-R forms, and character counting. We begin living in this continuously busy room in June. Sacrificing our time off, we labor over layouts, write-ups, ads, and pictures. It is in this room that our editor swears us to secrecy, and it is here we pledge to dedicate our lives to the every whim of Miss Gibson and Mr. Hunter. There are times we become disgusted with rejections and revisions, and we draw-up fake resignations. Every study hall or free moment we have we spend in the conference room laboring over last-minute jobs of writing captions and proofreading. In this miniature factory, hard work, worries, tears, and tempers combine to produce the history book of Kiski Area, the Campus.

Kiski's Mighty Cavaliers Conquer Foothills Crown

"Amen!" "All right, ends to Mr. Halli, backs with Mr. Morea, and linemen, hit the sled." We've worked out all year lifting weights, practicing agilities, and doing general conditioning. Now we are in pre-season camp and we virtually drown in our sweat! Dew-soaked grass in the early morning makes sure footing nearly impossible. The mid-morning and afternoon heat is worse! Our stomachs, devastated from a steady diet of salt pills and Top Star, rebel out on the field. Blood and bruises cover our limbs all season. The drudgery of practice after school is heightened by rain and the mud it brings. Cold weather adds to our misery. Our second encounter brings the stinging sensation of failure and the bitter taste of defeat — we must try harder! With harder practices and more determination we trample and defeat foe after foe. The Foothills Championship will again be ours if we triumph over Wilkinsburg. We can, we must, we will — and we do 6-0!

Round-Ballers Have Their Ups And Downs

The piercing shrillness of the whistles sounds in our ears.
Aching muscles, tender bruises,
burning blisters.
Constant sprinting — up the court,
down the court, around the court.
The squealing of our “chucks” as we turn
and stop fills the gym.
Lay-ups, foul shots, plays —
drilling day in and day out.
At the beginning of the season
we sweat off the extra pounds.
Our warm-up drills psyche us up to super humans.
The pre-game prayer . . . each player
asking to play, each wanting to score that first point —
all wanting to win.
The end of the season means the end of
those dreaded practices,
but yet . . .
in a kind of sentimental way, there is a longing for more. After all,
when a guy gives two hours of every day
to his team,
he doesn't find it easy to fill the emptiness left when it's all over.

Against Burrell's defense, Rich Smith edges towards Kiski's basket . . .

County Champ Leads Wrestlers To A Good Season

Muscle power!

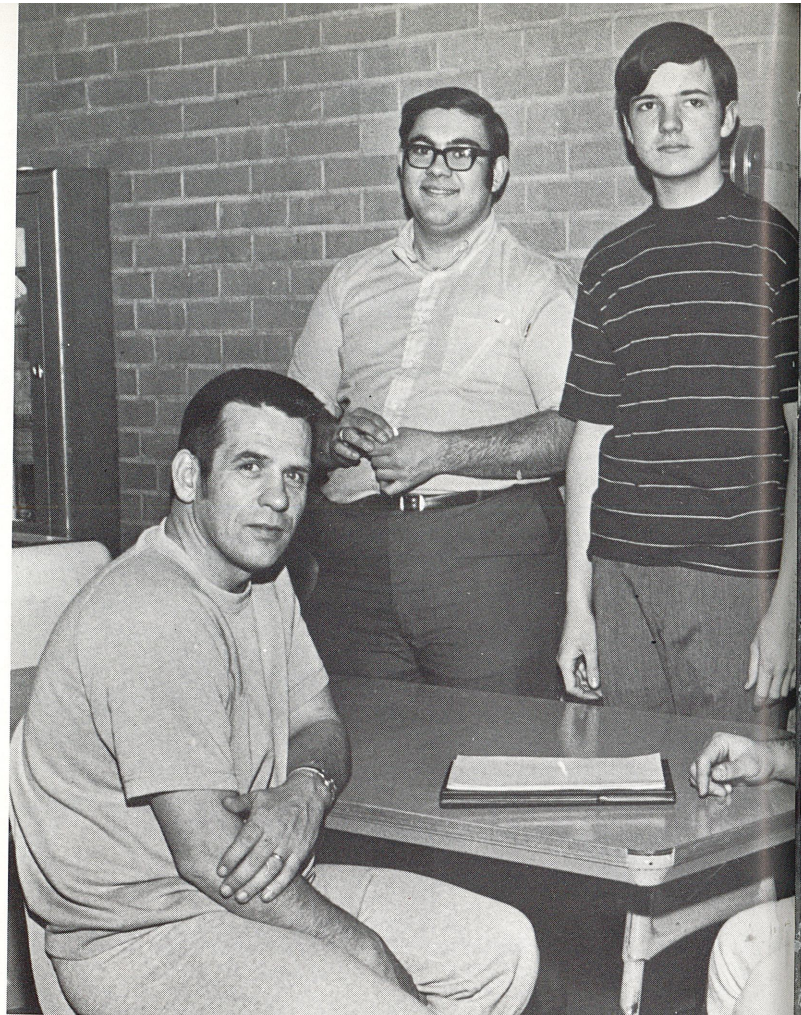

It is that physical strength that lets us pin our opponent. It gives us that feeling of individual power. Power and endurance built from long practice sessions with Mr. Roberto and Mr. Richey in the cafeteria.

Arms and legs are seen flying all over thickly-padded mats as we perfect our holds. To maintain — (stay in) our weight classes we sometimes starve ourselves 24 hours ahead of weigh-in.

Our audiences have grown progressively larger this year . . . maybe because Bob Crooks became county champ.

The Kiski Area matmen are fast becoming famous for their ability to pit raw muscle against raw muscle . . . and come out on top!

WPIAL Qualifiers Held At Kiski

Our world is a jungle . . .
a jungle of steel rings, parallel bars,
side horses, vaulting boxes, high bars,
and mats. Sometimes we even get to handle a basketball —
we're forced to share the gym
with the basketball team.

Gymnastics at Kiski
is relatively new;
people are just beginning to find out that it's a sport of gracefulness and muscle tone.
We train our bodies to do what we expect of them,
from the rigidity of an "iron cross"
to the litheness of a side horse routine.
Superb muscle control and great concentration determine our successes and failures.

Tom Loftus displays skilled agility while performing on the parallel bars.

Demonstrating great strength and form, Rich Booker leaps high in a floor exercise routine.

Shooters Aim For WPIAL Crown

There's no doubt about it —
we put in a year to be remembered.
Not only did we capture the Section II W.P.I.A.L. title,
but we also finally shot that perfect "500" score.
Now that's something to be proud of, and we are!

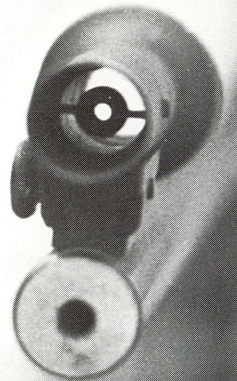

All of last year's work
is "chalked up" to experience.
Now we can cope with anything:
inclement weather, poor lighting, wobbling targets.
Those endless practices have really developed our skills:
using good judgment, concentrating on every shot,
applying the principles of wind, leverage, and elevation.
Our coach, Mr. Coffman, has been with us all the way.

After a season like this,
no wonder our spirits are high.
We've struggled hard to reach the top,
and we're going to stay there.

f Team Swings To Successful Season

"Fore" resounds over the course
as each of us tee off.
Some days the only feeling we have is disgust. Lost balls, sand traps, and bad scores make us consider giving it all up.
Then there are the good days —
the days when birdies,
bogeys, and eagles
make our scores outstanding, and everyone, including Mr. Ves, is happy. There's no particular conditioning for golf,
only the will to win
and a firm stance. We just do our best to try to beat all our opponents —
and we usually do.

Charlies Survive Long And Victorious Season

We start in the middle of August,
two weeks before school,
and prepare for our season.

Camp is awful this year —
Heat, blisters, and athlete's foot make each practice never-ending.

Every morning we get ourselves soaking wet
from doing cal's on the dewy ground
and as the sun rises in the sky, we're still wet . . .

only now we're drenched with sweat.

Our parched mouths,
swollen tongues,
and sun-burned lips

beg to be caressed by a few soothing drops of water.

Our prayers aren't always answered.

Mr. Creigh's motto, "No pain — no gain" cannot apply to us. The long hours of training were agonizing. How we withstood the excruciating pain in our "guts" we'll never know.

Devotion has to be the only explanation.

Mr. Creigh's soft-spoken but unpredictable manner well describes his affectionate nickname of "Breeze".

He doesn't yell when we goof off.

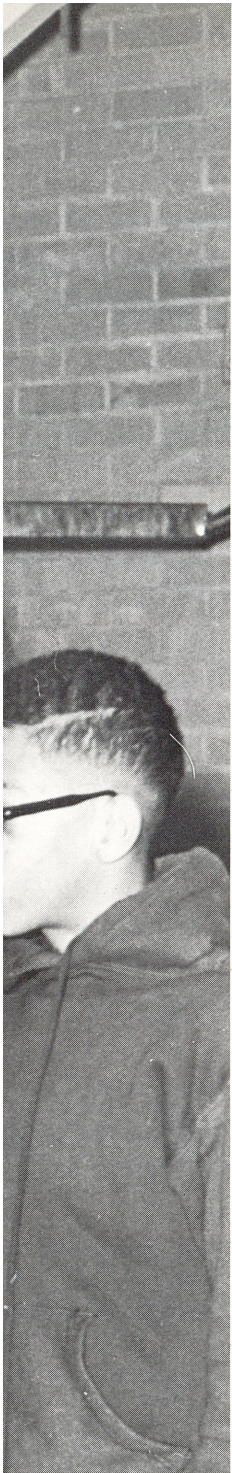

Instead, he takes out his anger towards us
with sprints and "rabbits".

We are his "Charlie J.O.'s" and we love it!

Coach Creigh checks final times with members of the cross country team.

Swimmers Find It Tough In Section II

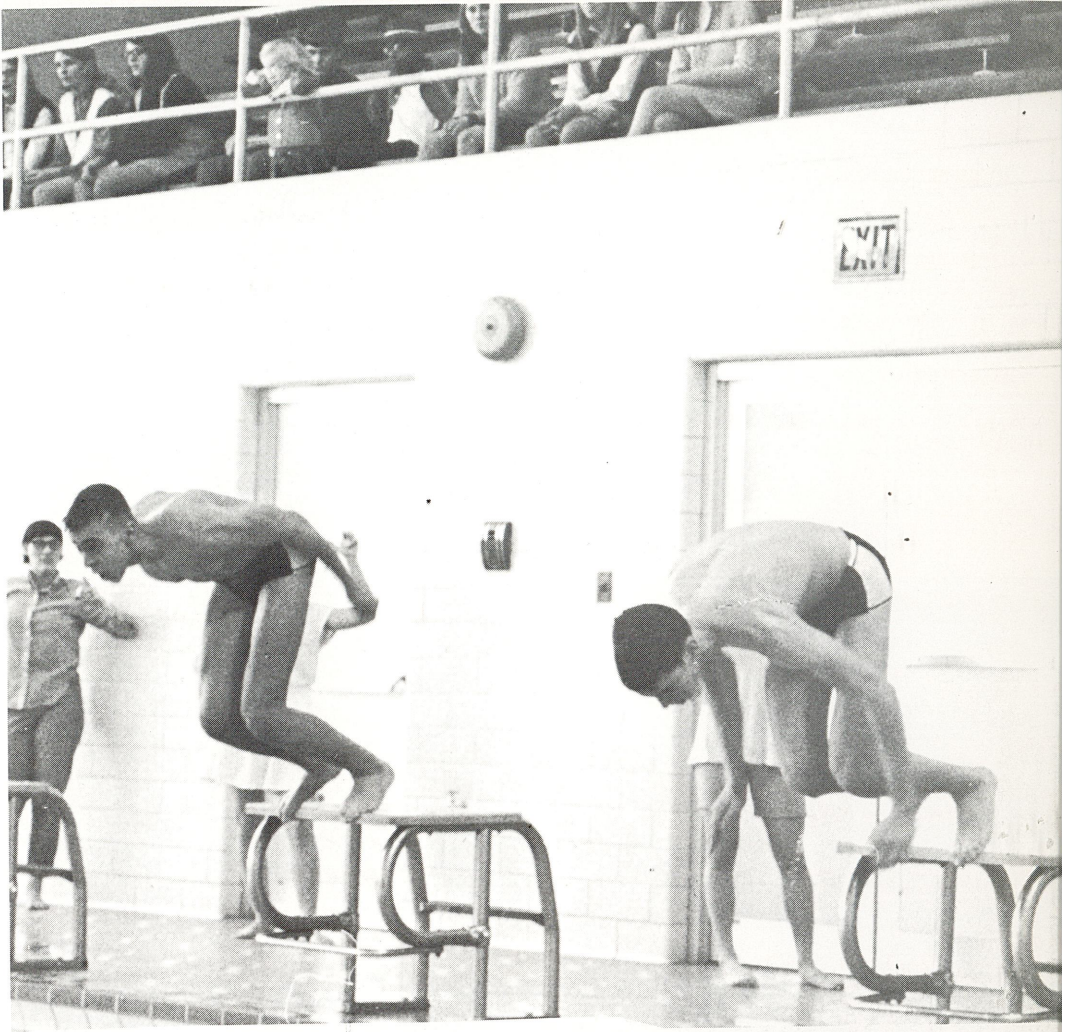

Our eyes burn like fire; our throats are dry and thick
in spite of the wet atmosphere about us.
A fog of chlorene and steam all but covers the surface of the pool. Our bodies are crying, begging for a rest; still we splash out yard after yard, lap upon lap. The clock on the wall appears to be motionless; our coaches rant and rave — nothing pleases them!
Interval training, sprints, more intervals, still more sprints — Gad, it's almost unbearable!
By this time the lines on the bottom of the pool
are just a blurrrrrrr.
Finally it's all over and we stumble blindly
into the locker room, gagging and choking from lack of oxygen.
Tomorrow is a new day and another practice, but we wouldn't give it up for anything — it's ours and we love it!

High Scoring And Agility Result In Undefeated Season

Just because we're girls doesn't mean we don't know how to play basketball. Our legs and arms may not be as long and hairy, but we've got what it takes. Sure we get mad when things are going rough — a few choice words have been known to fly. That's what makes our games exciting — they are uninhibited. We cheer, we laugh; sometimes we even cry, but we have a blast — win or lose. Be alert!

Keep possession of that ball and show them who is boss. Our fancy lay-ups, foul shots, and dribbling reflect our feminine ways. We may be second best, but we try awfully hard because we enjoy what we're doing.

Focus in . . .

Sophomores

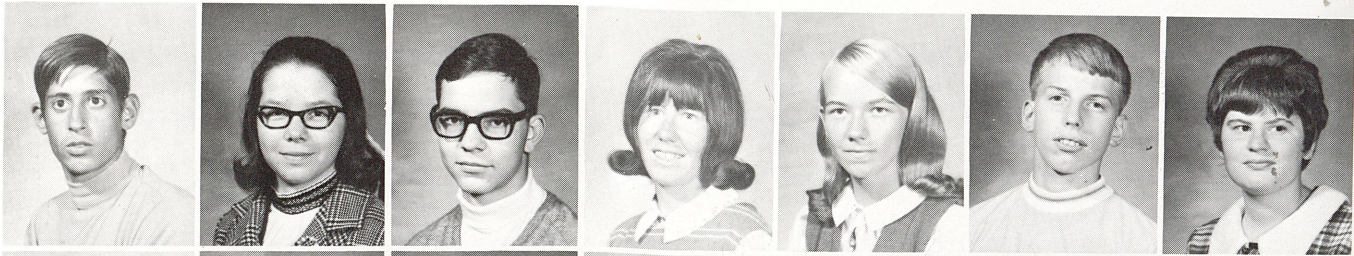

When we were greeted on that first day by the football team, we were plunged into the fast-moving world of Kiski. Here our minds overflowed with locker numbers, combinations, and new names and faces. But we adjusted quickly. We learned to unite, elect class officers, and raise money. We discovered the secret to racing across the patio without tripping over a flower-pot.

When the snow fell, we conquered the treacherous stone side-walks behind the sophomore building. Whenever we hear the croak of a frog, we'll remember our first dissection and queasy stomachs. Three gym classes a week made us feel inferior, but when we joined in cheering our teams on to victory the bonds of unity between upper- and under-classmen were tightened. Our sophomore year will always remain outstandingly vivid in our memory because it was the year we became a part of Kiski.

Juniors

We are the Juniors now—just one step away from being the big bad seniors of '71. We have our class rings, a sign of our rising rank. We took on the challenges of Chem Study. Algebra II, Bookkeeping, Typing, and World Cultures. We found in ourselves a daring attitude when we skipped class and accumulated our limit of late slips. The traffic-jammed halls boasted gold blazers as junior athletes became members of the varsity teams. Foreign countries arrived at our doorsteps as exchange students from Peru, Germany, and Japan joined our classes. Sometimes we had to laugh when Olaf couldn't find the math terms in his dictionary or sometimes we blushed as our visitors corrected our own mistakes. Fear overwhelmed us as we came face-to-face with PSAT tests and College Boards. Prom time aroused our spirits and we grabbed any opportunity to work behind the scenes for our prom. The beckoning hand of our senior year filled us with excitement but for now, we are just the Juniors.

Spirited by the thundering crowds, Joe Blumeraitis, Bob George, and Mark Bolystein march on to another Kiski victory.

Seniors

Seniors — this was our year!

One year seems hardly enough time to fit in all the experience and fun we had planned, but we did. The first week of school was the best. We felt so different. We were the oldest, smartest, freest bunch in the whole school. We had learned all the ropes and we knew we could get away with a lot of things the underclassmen couldn't. We were exempt from hall passes, but we had a hard time adjusting to the new system of late slips. When we were late, we just signed the blue list.

There was no escaping it nor the enrichment class which followed, and, there were more seniors being "enriched" this year than ever before. One did his homework, especially during the campaign week. We had more important things to do, like driving in rainy parades and devising new campaign gimmicks like the McGeary/Hildebrand "Atlantic City style" airplane and the Riggle/Miles Fight Song. The Zawacki/Meighan speech really set off a heated debate. When Louise stepped to the mike, the temperature in the auditorium seemed to hit the red line (and so did the color of her face)! We were so busy decorating for dances, preparing for inductions, and perfecting the class play, we stayed until all hours of the night.

Sometimes we even closed the doors after the janitors. After two weeks of Christmas vacation we came back to waltz to the tune of "semester test blues". Things got worse at the end of the year when we had to take two tests per day. The second semester — the last leg of our high school career. We were told to make the most of it — we did! The fun increased but so did the homework. We always have term papers to write at the end of the year. We spent half of the time limit picking a topic and the rest of the time trying to get organized (impossible!)

Panic struck Mr. Creigh's economics classes the night before the papers were due; some of us even stayed up all night to write them!

"No-doz" were in demand!

It seems the seniors are constantly selling things. We pushed the sweaters over on the sales classes, but we had to suffer with the calendars and cookies. Those cookies were awful. We knew we were taking our lives into our hands when we decided to sell them. Nobody wanted any.

In fact, after three months we were still trying to get rid of them.

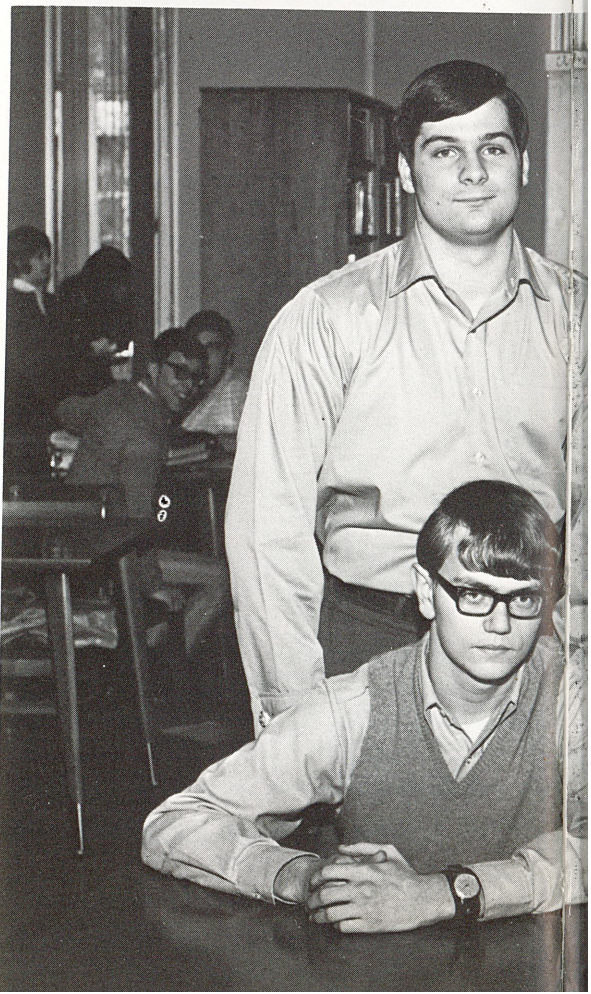

Seniors in the arts building really felt left out, having to blaze the Kiski cold to get to our lockers. We hated being in segregated homerooms. If you were in 401 or the home ec room you had the curse of not having any homeroom — and in your senior year, too! If you were in Mr. Ruggeri's . . . , how could they do this to you in your senior year?

There were heartbreaks that marred our high spirits. Some of us didn't get accepted by our dream colleges. We knew that most of the relationships we had shared all of our lives had to end at graduation.

But, we had to prepare for our futures. There was a mad rush for summer jobs, but only the first few in line got one.

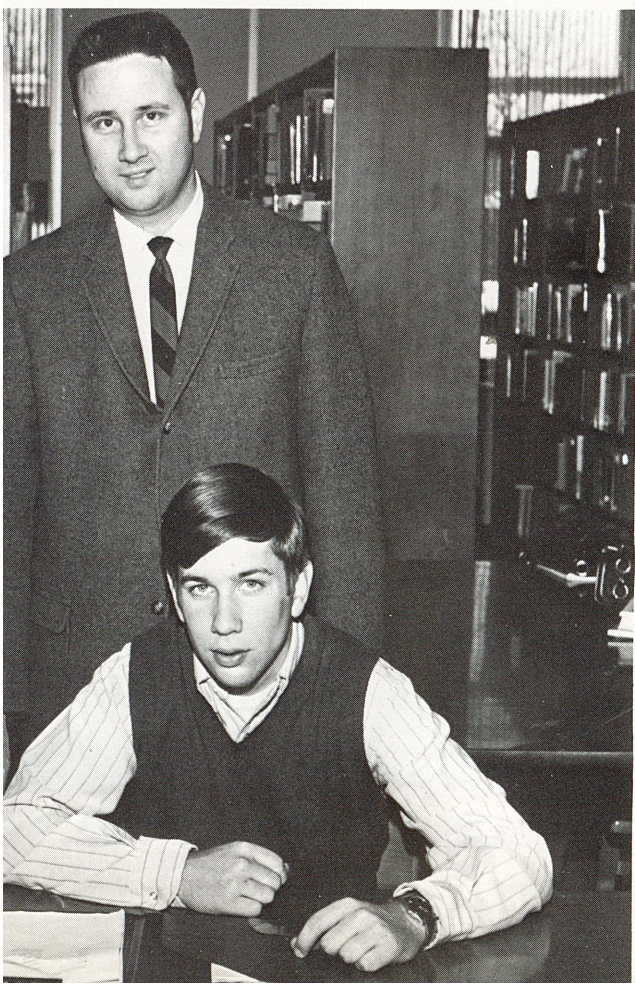

The last day of classes for us — clean-up day! Wall-to-wall papers, notebooks, and tablets covered the floors. We had to dig through papers, and fight our way through flying debris to find our lockers.

When graduation came, it was viewed with mixed emotions. Some hated to leave. Some were anxious to leave. But everybody had to leave. And, just like Mr. Miller had been telling us for three years, the honeymoon was over.

Letter From the Editor

This book is the culmination of nine hard months at labor and the creation of twenty-six great people. The students will never be able to see the tears or feel the strain of the before Christmas pressure or even to appreciate the sacrificed Saturday afternoons. These things are reserved for the yearbook staff and advisors, and it shouldn't be any other way. But, when I receive my book, I will handle it with the greatest of care, because it's more than just a book to me. The book means happy memories, sad memories, new friends, new enemies, ulcers, about 50% of my education, and even a new philosophy on life. I have had the chance to be educated and serve my school at the same time, and I thank everyone who has been involved, or has made it possible.

Sam Ceraso
Editor 1969-70

ON SPRING

Here comes Spring!
Gone are the dull winter days.
Now, there's the Prom and West Side Story.
There's Earth Day and Loyalty Day.
There are track meets, baseball games, and tennis matches.
There's Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Come alive . . .
Join in . . .
Become aware . . .
Focus in . . .

With Each New Season Some Rain Must Fall

At last, winter was behind us.
Just when the snow quit falling, the rain started to come.
April showers continued right into May, but that didn't dampen our activities here at Kiski.
Rehearsals for West Side Story started in February and kept going right up to opening night on May 6.
Spring is the time for banquets and concerts at Kiski.
The Seniors, the athletes, and the Campus Staff celebrated the end of their year's hard work
at their own banquets.
And, as usual, the band and chorus
put on their great concerts.
With the Spring season comes new sessions of baseball, tennis, and track,
and our guys did their best.
Spring, too, meant graduation for the seniors.
It was a happy day, even though it did rain again.
That was Spring at Kiski this year
and what a great one it was!

Broadway Image Reflected On Kiski Stage

One couldn't even begin to count the time and labor put into West Side Story—Working on the set design, dance routines, programs, make-up, costumes, and ads.

But it was worth every second when we got a standing ovation. We had been able to bring to life the feelings, the problems, and the emotions of the Sharks, the Jets, Tony, and Maria.

To look really professional, we ordered our main costumes from New York and extended the performances to four nights. Most high schools wouldn't even attempt to do West Side Story, but we did! And we were the greatest!!!

Rosalia (Karen Morris) and Anita (Tammy Fish) discuss the pros and cons of living in America in the "America" scene from West Side Story.

During the rumble between the Jets and the Sharks, Riff (Michael McGeary) lunges forward and makes a stab at Bernardo (Don Swenk), the leader of the Puerto Rican Sharks.

In Doc's Drug Store, one of the Jets' girls (Dorothy Gabelli) sassses back to the line-up of Jets on the counter stools.

Escaping the pressures of their friends and family, Tony (Bill Wichrowski) and Maria (Patty Palermo) meet on the fire escape to sing of their love.

Bleu, Bleu L'amour Est Bleu

Our Prom . . . a miracle in itself.
We started cutting out millions of crepe paper
flowers 'way back in March,
but when the first week of May rolled around,
nothing was done.
The weeks before May 15 were murder.
Whoever heard of eating dinner or doing homework
near prom time?
When the big night finally arrived, we surprised ourselves and everyone else with our finished decorations.
The night was perfect —
well, at least for awhile anyway.
The rain came but we weren't too disappointed,
except those in the football field.
We did feel let down though when Brenda and the Tabulations didn't show.
But Jim Quinn came through and entertained us for the rest of the night.
Most of the couples danced to his music,
but some were content to talk or sleep the night away.

Couples relax while watching their fellow students "gig" to the sounds played by Jim Quinn at the after-prom party.

Jim Gagen, Marlene Coe, Gary Minik, and Sandy Doviatt chat at the fountain while Buddy Lee and his orchestra entertain the guests during the Junior-Senior Prom.

Kathy Kerr and Trae Boucher descend the flower-lined steps with their escorts following a midnight snack in the cafeteria.

Baseball Team Slides Into Second Place

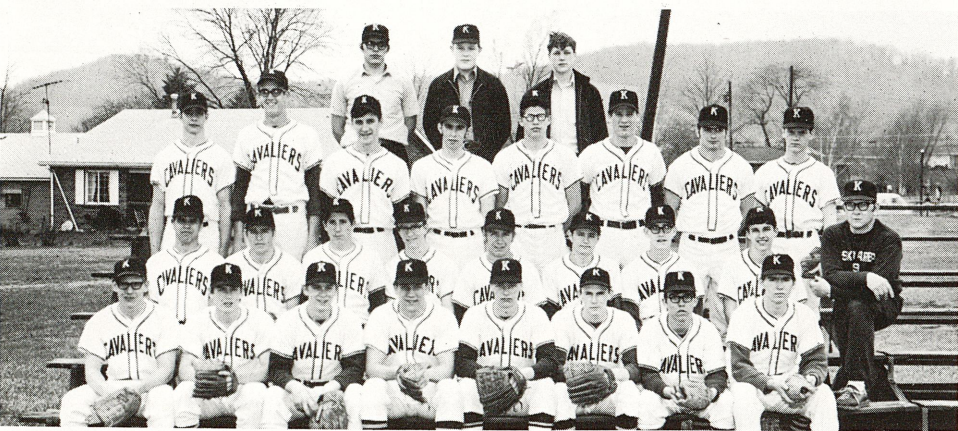

Even though we returned with an untried varsity,
we started our season with lots of hope.

We admit that we didn't do so great in our exhibition schedule, but when the really big games — the section games — rolled around, we meant business!

Practice started way back in March.
Sometimes it got soggy out in the field,
so we settled ourselves at short and first base in the gym. Can you imagine us scooping up grounders, sliding into home, and stealing second in the gym?

"Bo" was a good coach — he kept us going . . .

Going all the way to second place in the section. We weren't really happy about it, but Mr. Egelsky thought we had done a good job.

Netters Strive Toward Victory

15-Love
30-Love . . . your ads
45-Love . . . game.

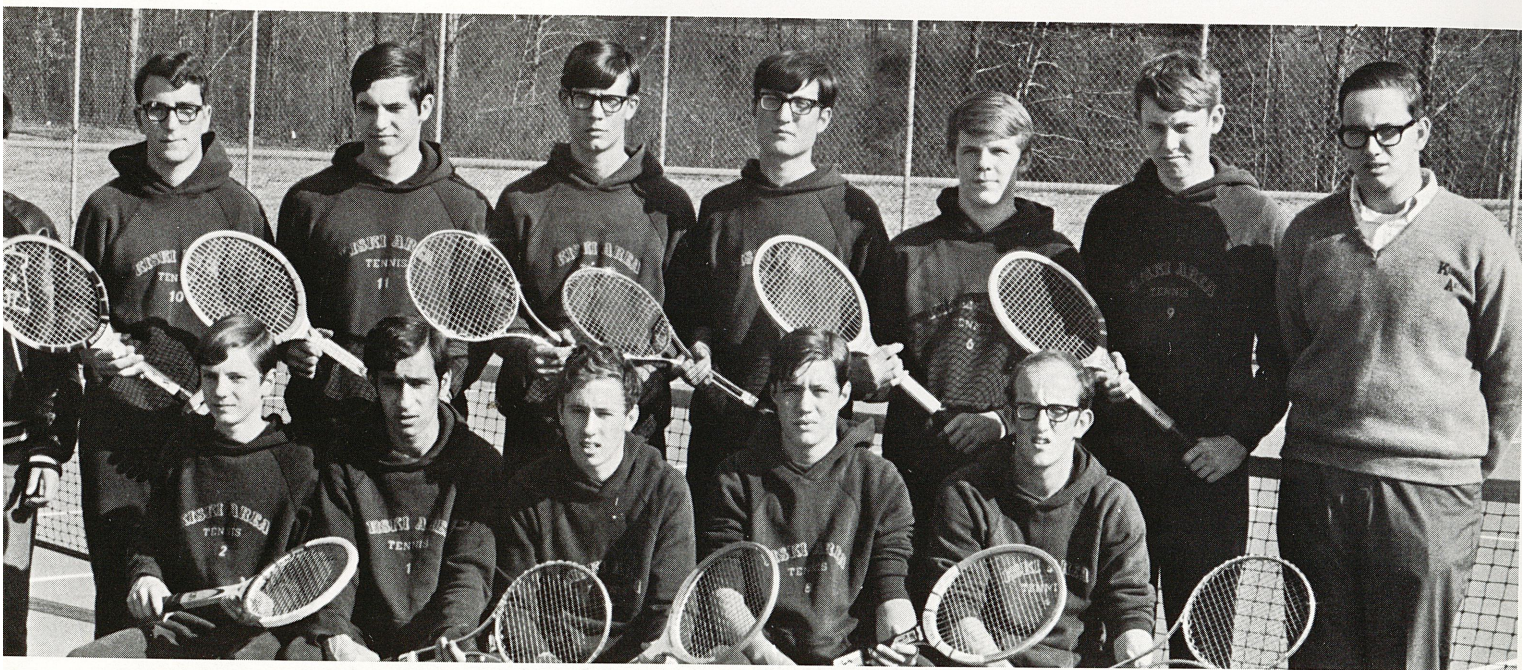

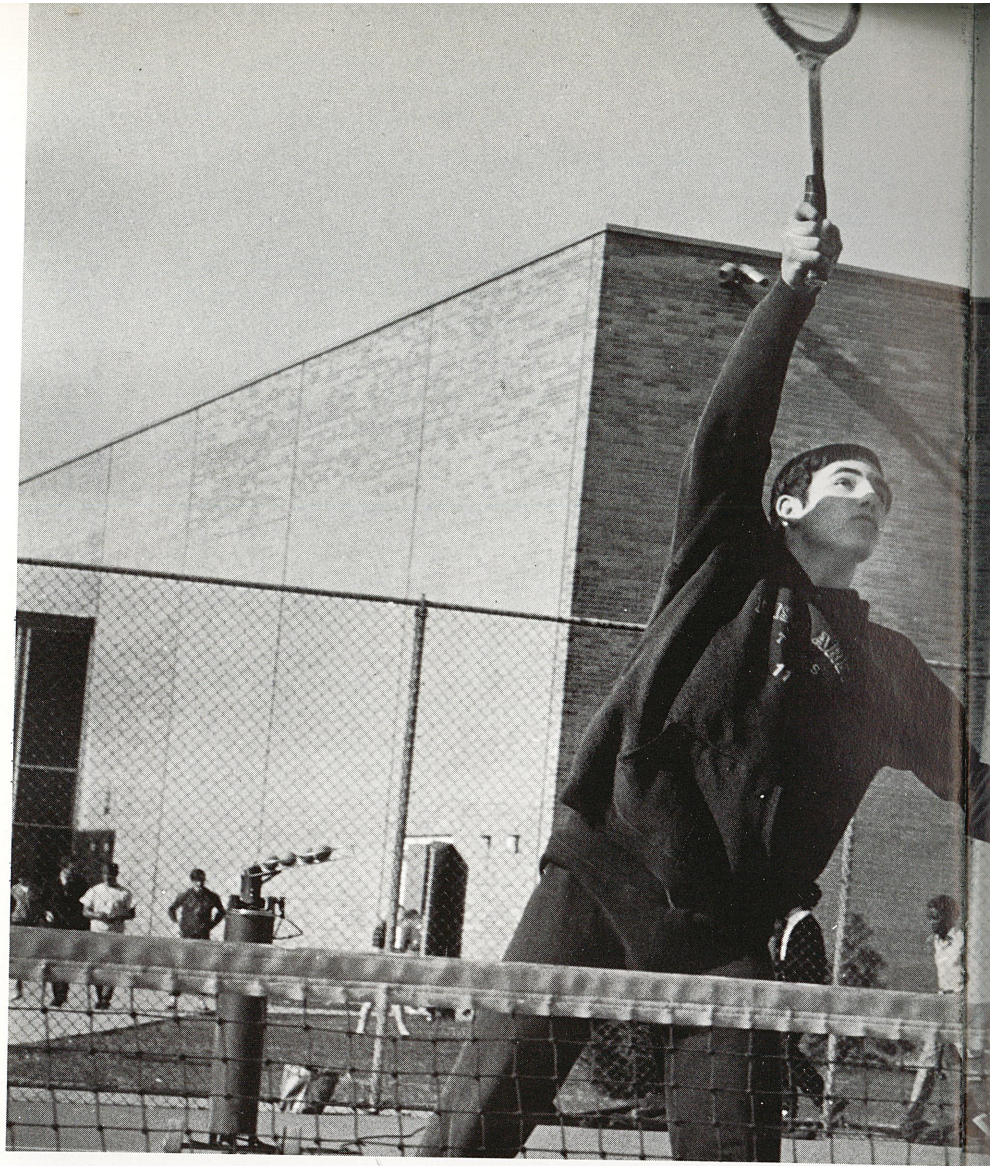

These terms may mean
the difference between a victorious win
or an unglorifying defeat.

We have to admit that this year
was not one of our best seasons.
There were defeats, but each one gave us
an opportunity to learn our mistakes.

Mr. Morea didn't let us forget them, either.
He kept at us at the practices and the matches.

He wouldn't give up . . .
and neither would we!!

We played in the rain,
and the cold wind stung our faces,
but we kept at it.
We gave our best.

Thinclads Race To A Winning Season

It was a year of achievements.
But before these achievements, there was suffering,
almost torture.
We always had to run — those grueling practices always went on —
in rain, in sleet, in hail.
Sure it was hard.
There were times when your lungs felt like bursting
and your mouth and tongue felt wind-dried and parched.
Here winter's "easy living" really showed up!
But it was worth it all
when some of our teammates won recognition.
Rick Booker shattered the records —
even to be named "King"
in some of his specialties.
The pole vault and high hurdles topped under his strength.
Then all of us got our rewards at the awards assembly.
It was a good year — a winning year.
We achieved success.

Our Impossible Dream Becomes Reality

Well, you made it. You're out!
It took twelve long years of work to do it.
And even though you worked so hard,
the weather messed you up.
Graduation was scheduled for 6:00 outside.
All day long it was cloudy and dreary
but no rain . . .

Until 5:45.

Then everybody and everything had to be packed into the gym. The heat and the crowd were unbelievable!
You couldn't wait for graduation. All your notebooks had countdowns on them. But you didn't really know what it all meant . . . Then it happened.

For a few seconds you were filled with remorse.

You would be leaving many of the friends
you had made memories with.

There would be no more assemblies, no more hall
passes, no more tomorrows at Kiski.

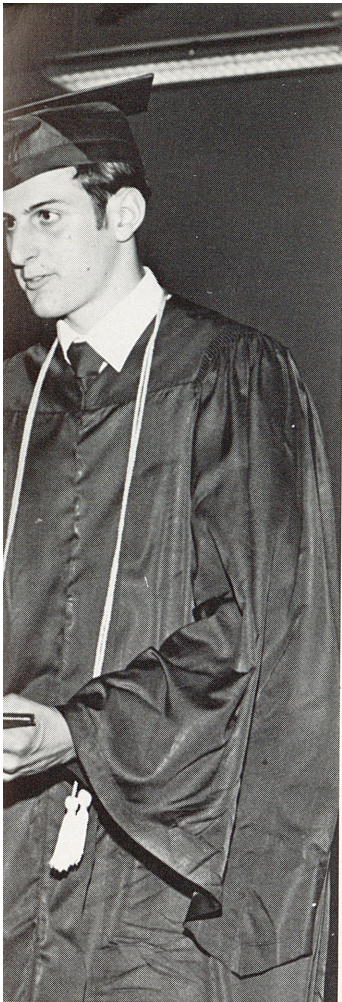

It was the end.

But then you thought of the summer, and college,
and all that was waiting for you. And you realized
it wasn't really an ending; just a new beginning.

At Commencement exercises student speaker Chris Ceraso urges his fellow graduates to forget their prejudices as they begin a new way of life.

Senior Jim Allera receives his diploma and congratulations from Mr. Anthony Ceraso, President of the School Board.

In the sticky-hot gymnasium, seniors impatiently wait for their diplomas.

Mr. James Daniels, Superintendent of Schools, congratulates his daughter, Helen, upon receiving her diploma. Behind them is Mr. Anthony Ceraso.

Mr. McClelland directs the chorus while graduates look on at Baccalaureate.
